Severe Cold Sweeps
Into State From Northwest

MERCURY FALLS

25 Degrees Below Zero
Forecast for Some Districts

Falling temperatures in Appleton today heralded the approach of the second sub-zero wave of the week which advanced into Wisconsin from the northwest and is expected to engulf the entire state tonight.

The Associated Press reported that the mercury fell rapidly in the extreme northwestern section of the state this morning. By 10 o'clock this morning, the mercury had dropped to three above at LaCrosse, where the minimum recording for the previous 24 hours was 12.

A similar trend was evident here. Hitting a 24-hour high of 18 above at 6 o'clock this morning, the mercury had fallen two degrees by 12:30 this afternoon and was apparently preparing for a steep slide this evening.

Sunshine and blue skies reigned in the city today, despite the chilly weather. Traffic was slowed by icy pavements. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the lowest mark in the city was one above, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

Minneapolis reported a temperature of 10 degrees below zero at 10 a. m.

The severity of the cold was indicated by yesterday's low point at Devils Lake, N. D., -30 below.

Weather observers reported that although the mass of cold air was moving swiftly, it was not accompanied by the high winds which brought Tuesday's storm.

Snow, Warmer Saturday

The forecast for Wisconsin was "generally fair tonight and Friday; severe cold wave tonight; somewhat colder southeast and extreme east portions and rising temperature northwest portion Friday; Saturday light snow and rising temperature."

The forecast warned shippers against minimum temperatures ranging from 20 to 25 degrees below zero to northwestern points up to 300 miles from Milwaukee. Tonight's minimum in Milwaukee was expected to be about -4.

Light snow fell in Milwaukee, Green Bay and Wausau today. Temperatures in the eastern area ranged upward to the low twenties.

At Menominee, commercial fishermen piloted their boats through three to five inches of ice on Green Bay in an effort to retrieve nets valued at $16,000. The storm early in the week had held the craft in port.

The fishermen said the nets might be saved after solid ice forms but would be damaged by floating ice and the huge number of smelt that would be caught in them.

The greatest production of the fishermen in recent weeks has been in smelt and perch. The herring take, they reported, had been the lightest in years.

45 Below at Border

The cold wave swept over the Dakotas and Minnesota this morning, with Warroad, Minn., on the Minnesota-Canadian border reporting 45 below. Bemidji, Minn., and Minot, N. D., had 32 below and Park Rapids, Minn., 35 below.

The bitter cold was felt also in Montana, Idaho, Nebraska and Iowa.

In Michigan 75 per cent of the highways in the lower peninsula were dangerously icy, while in the upper peninsula a new snowfall of one to five inches covered a previous deposit totalling 12 to 19 inches.

Much colder weather was due late in the week in New England where today New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut experienced a

Two Boys Raid 'Impregnable' U. S. Mint at San Francisco; Maintain 'It Was All in Fun'

San Francisco — (AP) — The new armor-plated and heavily-guarded United States mint was raided last night by two 15-year-old boys who got in by scaling a wall and raising an unlocked window.

Police inspector Max Reznick identified the boys as Paul Francis and William Gallagher, residents of an orphanage at San Rafael. They were held for juvenile authorities.

"We wanted to see if we could do it," officers quoted the boys.

Bedlam broke out in the huge fortress of granite and steel—supposedly impregnable—when a guard saw two prowlers in the copper store room and turned in an alarm.

Lights went on, bells sounded and angry-voiced men with machine guns appeared.

Inspector Reznick said the boys had tossed out of a window a big sheet of copper from the room where pennies are made.

George Maher, captain of the mint guard, asked the two orphans how they managed to enter the building, protected by great walls, by impenetrable steel, tear gas equipment, heavy bars, numerous burglar alarms and a large force of guards.

Paul and William said it was simple.

"We went around to the Octavia street side of the building," police quoted them.

"We found the windows nearest the ground barred. So we climbed up a pipe to the second story and crept around a ledge until we found a window partly open."

"We just pushed the window in further and dropped down inside. That was all there was to it. It was easy. We didn't mean any harm. It was all in fun."

Treaty Violators Must be Punished, Pittman Asserts

Believes 'Peace and Justice' Demand Imposition of Sanctions

Washington — (AP) — Chairman Pittman (D-Ne.) of the senate foreign relations committee expressed the opinion today that world "peace and justice" depend on a willingness of Christians to "punish the violators of peace treaties."

In a letter to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Pittman said it was not necessary to go to war to carry out such punishment.

"I think that moral, financial and commercial sanctions would be sufficient," he wrote. "Christian organizations should not be afraid to denounce immorality and injustice in government and to urge punishments for the violation of sacred peace treaties. 'Until they take this action, their opinions and their efforts will be little regarded.'"

Pittman said his letter was in response to a request from the council for comment on its suggestion that all colonies be made independent, offering free trade to every nation in order to provide raw materials.

"It accomplishes nothing for one government to surrender a colony so that its inhabitants may govern themselves if the colony is to be invaded, conquered, and ruled by some other power," Pittman said.

"Your plan for protecting against such an eventuality is multiple treaties of assurance of protection. Multiple treaties of protection at the present time and for several years in the past have not accomplished their purpose of protecting weak countries."

6-Man Jury Decides Bank Night Is Not Lottery Violation

LaCrosse — (AP) — After 22 minutes deliberation, a 6-man county court jury returned a verdict late yesterday acquitting William Freise, manager of the Rivoli theater, and the LaCrosse Theatres company, owners of the Rivoli, of charges of operating a lottery in the form of a bank night.

Operation of bank night at the Rivoli will be resumed beginning Jan. 6 and 7. F. L. Koppkeger, general manager, announced after the trial.

The state, represented by assistant Attorney Leo Vaudeville, had brought the charges against the defendants.

Attorneys for the defense denied any "consideration" was involved in the bank nights, pointing out in their closing arguments testimony of two witnesses who said they stood in front of the theater and won awards without being required to purchase tickets.

Ouster Action Could Not be Maintained, 2 Attorneys Report

Madison — (AP) — Special counsel appointed by Attorney General O. S. Loomis reported to him today that he did not believe an action for ouster of office could be successfully maintained against Governor-elect Julius P. Heil, who had been accused of violating the corrupt practices act.

The attorneys, Arthur W. Kopp and William H. Spohn, inquired into charges made by John B. Chapple, of Ashland, that Heil attempted to "force" his withdrawal from the United States senate race as an independent candidate. Chapple claimed he was offered $2,900 to make speeches for Heil.

Loomis announced the report and all records and testimony in the case would be turned over to his successor, Republican Attorney General-elect John Martin.

"We spent a great deal of time examining into provisions of the corrupt practices act and studying the cases in our own and in other states where similar questions have arisen, and we believe that we have thoroughly briefed every legal proposition involved," Kopp and Spohn said.

Gustav Reimers Dies Early Today

Engraving Firm Head Found Dead on Floor of Home

Gustav Reimers, about 53, president of the Appleton Engraving company, Neenah, was found dead on the floor of his home at 58 Belaire court about 7 o'clock this morning.

Police, summoned by Mr. Reimers' physician who could not gain entrance into the home, forced open the back door. According to the police report, Mr. Reimers called the police early this morning and then was unable to speak. The doctor traced the call, drove to the Reimers residence, and called police when he found the doors locked. Cause of death is not known.

Mr. Reimers came to this vicinity from Chicago about 20 years ago. He was one of four men who organized the Appleton Engraving company in 1923. The plant was moved to Neenah about four years ago. Mr. Reimers has been president of the company the last several years, succeeding the late James Kamba.

Mrs. Reimers was visiting relatives in Chicago at the time of her husband's death and left immediately after for Appleton. There are no children. The body is at the Wichmann Funeral home.

Sidley Will Executor Is Facing Questioning

Racine — (AP) — Attorneys for William Horlick Sidley, who is attempting to break the will of his mother, will question an executor of the late maled milk heiress $4,000,000 estate tomorrow before United States Court Commissioner Eugene Haley. It was revealed here today.

Counsel for Sidley, son of the late Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, on that date will adversely question Bernard F. Magruder, one of the five executors and an adviser to Mrs. Sidley during her lifetime.

The examination is one of the final preliminaries to the actual contest to break the will, which is scheduled to begin in probate court here Jan. 11.

General Moseley Wants U. S. To Make Peace With Japs to Leave Fleet Free in Atlantic

Indianapolis — (AP) — George Van Horn Moseley of Atlanta, Ga., retired major general in the United States army, said here today this nation should make an enduring peace with Japan so as to leave its whole fleet free for duty in the Atlantic ocean.

General Moseley spoke at a luncheon of Indiana Republican legislators, mayors and editors and party leaders.

"It is very bad naval strategy," he said, "to make faces and call bad names at one and the same time across both the Atlantic and the Pacific unless we plan to build a two-sea fleet."

He said the United States already had more than tripled its trade with Manchuria since Japan took over the area and might profit by selling Japan raw materials and heavy equipment for rebuilding China.

"In accomplishing this," he pointed out, "we do not need to approve Japan's ethics in dealing with China."

"While we abhor the brutal treatment accorded the refugees in Germany," the general said, "we do not alleviate their suffering by entering a name-calling contest with the German leaders."

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes provoked a German protest to the state department recently with a speech he made against nazism.

"I have three sons, and I do not want them led to war to sustain a cabinet officer in his choice of vocabulary," Moseley went on. "Although I hold no brief for Mr. Hitler, I would much prefer to have him release a barrage of names that would accurately describe that same particular cabinet officer."

General Moseley said the British had "surcharged the atmosphere against us at Lima," setting of the recent Pan-American conference.

"Their foreign policy never changes," he said. "They would ditch us at the first crossroads if it served their selfish purposes to do so."

Demand Seen For Gradual Finish of WPA

Some Legislators Want PWA Made Semi-Permanent Agency

PLAN IS OUTLINED

Would Have Construction Program Drafted Year in Advance

Washington — (AP) — A congressional demand for gradual abandonment of the WPA was forecast today by some legislators in discussing a proposal to make the public works administration a semi-permanent agency.

Although they expected little opposition to an emergency appropriation to carry WPA until July 1, several senators said they believed the next congress must decide whether there is to be long-time planning for relief needs.

In this connection, there have been proposals that congress draft a PWA construction program at least a year in advance, tentatively set aside the money to carry it out, and permit the PWA to take applications for projects.

Then, whenever private industry slackened, the president could set the PWA machinery into action immediately.

For Permanent Body

Asserting he favored a permanent PWA to take up the slack in unemployment, Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) predicted congress would be asked to act on this suggestion after the emergency appropriation for the WPA is voted. That appropriation probably will be $650,000,000 to $750,000,000.

Hayden, a member of the senate appropriations committee, said he thought congress should "control the purse strings" on future relief funds.

The PWA, which advances 45 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects, already has allocated more than $1,425,000,000 this year to such projects in loans and grants.

Wage scales generally are higher on PWA projects than for the lighter work of the WPA, Senator McCarran (D-Ne.) said he believed this was a point which congress should consider.

"Not only for the good of the country, but for the good of the relief workers themselves, WPA must come to an end," McCarran declared.

"In the first place, WPA workers are paid starvation wages. In the second place, they are afraid to leave WPA jobs to take private employment that may not be permanent."

British Steamer Is Bombed; Crew Takes to Boats

Attack Takes Place on Route Followed by Spanish Insurgents

London — (AP) — Lloyd's agent at Gibraltar reported today an S O S had been received from the 4,236-ton British steamer Marionga, which read:

"Bombed. Crew took to boats."

The steamer's message gave its position as 39.12 north latitude, 1.7 east longitude, between Castellon, on Spain's eastern coast, and the Balearic islands. (Palma, on Mallorca, largest of the Balearics, is a big Spanish insurgent airbase.)

The Marionga formerly was of Greek registry, named at one time Greystone and later Eddystone. She carries a crew of about 30.

The freighter left Oran, Algeria, Saturday, and her owners, Neill and Pandelis of London, said she was carrying a general cargo to Barcelona and had an observer for the non-intervention committee aboard.

Insurgent Planes?

The area in which she was reported bombed is on the route of insurgent bombers flying from their Palma base to attack cities on the coast of government Spain.

A British government spokesman told the house of commons recently there had been 120 attacks on British merchant ships since the outbreak of the Spanish war. About 20 of them were sunk. Most of these attacks, however, were on ships within government Spain's territorial waters where the British government has refused to give protection.

The Marionga apparently was bombed on the high seas where such an attack is deemed "piracy" by the British government.

Italy Hoping to Persuade France To Change Policy

Mussolini Reported as Seeking to Internationalize Tunisia

Paris — (AP) — Italy was reported in diplomatic circles today to have indicated she will seek to internationalize Tunisia to remove the territory from strict French control.

Apparently balked in any idea of winning territory for Italy by the rising tide of French defensive measures, Premier Mussolini was reported in usually well-informed circles to have formulated a new plan for presentation to Premier Chamberlain when the latter visits Rome next month.

Sources close to the foreign office said simultaneously that Premier Chamberlain had promised to keep the French-Italian fight over Djibouti off the agenda when he visits Rome.

Britain Backs France

The British premier also was said to have promised to back up a French stand against transferring any territory to Italy. Nevertheless, it was foreseen he would have a difficult time avoiding discussion on the status of Tunisia, which is inextricably bound up with any discussion of Mediterranean problems.

French thought Premier Mussolini's approach to Chamberlain would be based on the thesis that Tunisia is legally an independent country under French protection.

The Italian argument might be that France had received an international mandate to protect Tunisia and that she had abused the international duty.

The French meanwhile, made an open show of firmness and readiness. Two warships were on their way to Djibouti, and French Senegalese troops were assembled at Marseille to reinforce the French colony.

Four Frenchmen Face Embezzlement Charges

Paris — (AP) — Charges of embezzling 140,000,000 francs (about $3,600,000) were made public today with the arrest of four men formerly associated with the French Pathe film company.

Warrants charging fraud and conspiracy to defraud were issued for their arrests by an investigating magistrate.

Those held were Bernard Tanenrapt, also known as Natan, former head of the Pathe Cinema company, and once known in Paris as the "king of the film industry"; Jean Ger, known in Paris racing circles; Alexander Joannides, self-styled inventor, and an attorney named Caron.

Police charged that they had conspired to defraud the French Pathe company through stock watering, false leases on theaters and by forming fictitious companies for movie apparatus.

Broker Is Expelled From Stock Exchange

New York — (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange announced today the expulsion from its membership of J. A. Sisto, general partner in a brokerage firm of that name.

The announcement of the expulsion was read to members from the rostrum of the trading floor by Edward E. Bartlett, Jr., chairman of the governing board.

The exchange said Sisto had been expelled on three general charges. One charge said he had caused the Sisto Financial corporation of which he was president and a director and which he dominated and controlled, to purchase from him at $23 a share a total of 1,000 shares of the stock of Sisto Financial corporation, which he had purchased about the same time, for $15.124.

Dykstra Presents U. S. Program to Help Democracy

'We are Living Recklessly And Irresponsibly,' U. W. Chief Says

Columbus, Ohio — (AP) — C. A. Dykstra, president of the American Political Science association, drew up last night an American program to perpetuate democracy.

Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and former city manager of Cincinnati, spoke at the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the association.

"These new parties which have taken over in the European scene have actually contributed nothing in the democratic sense and have succeeded only in establishing a new type of governmental tyranny," he said in a prepared address.

"One thing they have done for us, however. They have challenged to find a solution within the orbit of the representative system."

Dykstra listed the needs of the American people as:

"Living Recklessly"

A social goal to which they can aspire with confidence;

A governmental structure which can meet the public strains and stresses of present and future, and

A citizenship which can be trusted to act responsibly.

"On every hand are the witch doctors with their panaceas," he said. "Classes, groups and special pleaders clash with each other. Everywhere immediacy is in the saddle. The result is that we are living recklessly and irresponsibly the world over."

"Youth needs to believe in the democratic way if democracy is to be maintained."

"Without question there must be certain and continuing responsibility located in our government at Washington."

He said it would appear that the president should lead in the development of a more responsible government.

He suggested a budget bureau staff on a career basis, a "real cabinet" of the general planning and coordinating type, and with rather permanent under-secretaries as a part of the civil service.

The president could be strengthened, Dykstra added, with an experienced coordinator and general manager as a "deputy administrative president, perhaps as a cabinet officer without portfolio."

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Front) — (AP) — An insurgent communiqué boasted today that 20 government planes were downed in the greatest air battle of the massive offensive into Catalonia.

Despite the aviation success, however, the insurgent land drive slowed almost to deadlock. Gains reported were of minor consequence, although in six days insurgents have claimed conquest of 380 odd square miles of territory.

The air battle was over land lines near the Albalas-Borjas Blancas road, 70 miles to the west of Barcelona.

Finds Delegation of Authority Violation of Law

2 CHIEF POINTS

'Budget B' Entirely Valid, Court's Ruling Declares

Madison — (AP) — The state supreme court today ruled that Governor LaFollette's emergency board acted illegally when it voted Nov. 15 to pay the state's Civil war debt and a tax balance owed to the teachers' retirement fund.

The high court, in a decision written by Justice Oscar M. Fritz, enjoined Secretary of State Theodore Dammann and Treasurer Solomon Levitan from carrying out the orders of the board, which would have depleted the state's general fund by nearly $4,000,000.

The ruling was a victory for Secretary of State-elect Fred R. Zimmerman, who brought an action before the supreme court to test the validity of the 1937 budget bill, under which the emergency board derived conditional powers to make appropriations from the general fund.

The court held that the legislature unlawfully delegated its authority to make appropriations and that the acts of the emergency board were unconstitutional.

Stays in General Fund

The specific amount enjoined by the court and remaining in the general fund for the benefit of Governor-elect Julius P. Heil is $3,887,552.13.

Of this amount $1,163,700 represents the principal on the Civil war debt which has been standing on the books for 75 years as an obligation owed to the common school fund; $2,703,852.13 is a sum owed to the teachers' retirement fund because of a deficiency of income tax; and $20,000 represents a debt to the state normal school fund.

Another payment ordered by the emergency board—$2,699,823 in additional appropriations to state departments for the next six months—was not directly involved in the litigation but this sum also will be under the control of the new administration since it was not to be released until January.

New Board Planned

Of the $6,533,582 total voted by the emergency board Nov. 16, the sum entirely unchallenged by Zimmerman was approximately $400,000 in emergency allotments, mainly for PWA building projects at the LaCrosse and Milwaukee normal schools.

The present emergency board is composed of Governor LaFollette and the two Progressive chairmen of the assembly and senate finance committees, which sit jointly.

The new board under Governor-elect Heil's direction will be complete after the 1939 legislature meets on Jan. 11 and organizes, and is expected to be in sympathy with Heil's financial policies.

Two sections of the last budget act authorized payment of the Civil war, retirement fund, and normal fund debts when the existing board determined that the payments should be made.

"Budget B" Provisions

Under other provisions of the act state departments were given specific "Budget A" appropriations which were estimated to be less than their needs and additional "Budget B" allotments subject to release by the board as revenues warranted. It was under the "Budget B" section that extra allotments for the next six months were made.

When the present board started authorizing payments from the general fund Republican leaders charged that it was attempting to place Governor-elect Heil in an embarrassing financial position.

Governor LaFollette instituted mandamus proceedings in Dane county circuit court against Dammann and Levitan, who retire next week, to compel them to issue the

Roosevelt Busy On Messages for Coming Session

President Cuts Down Engagements at White House

Washington—President Roosevelt, anxious to reserve all possible time between now and next week for work on his legislative and budget messages, made only two engagements today.

In addition, he studied a long list of recommendations and background for appointments to many federal posts, including the soon-to-be vacated cabinet position of attorney general.

While there were reports that Frank Murphy, retiring governor of Michigan, would be named to head the department of justice, succeeding Homer Cummings, White House officials had no comment on this. They merely said the president probably would have some appointments to announce Monday or Tuesday.

Two appointments announced today at the White House were James M. Thomson, New Orleans publisher, to be a member of the United States Territorial Expansion Memorial commission, and George E. Proudfit of Lincoln, to be United States marshal for the district of Nebraska.

Heil Declares Beer Merits Promotion Along With Cheese

Milwaukee—(P)—Governor-elect Julius Heil, who has repeatedly urged promotion of the sale of Wisconsin cheese, declared here, last night that "beer should be in the same promotional category for the good of Wisconsin as cheese."

In an interview after a banquet given for him by members of the Milwaukee Athletic club, Heil said: "This wholesome beverage, which is distributed all over America, is made from fine Wisconsin barley, and I want to promote it as much as possible. The more beer sold, the better the market for the Wisconsin farmers' barley."

At the banquet, host of which was Edward J. Landsberg, president of the Blatz Brewing company, a large plaque bearing the following inscription was displayed: "They say 'Our humble cheese has found a friend in you—' But pray 'Won't cheese look glum without our noble brew?'"

MURPHY DEFENDS STAND

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, in a "valedictory" statement before leaving office, said today he was "glad" he had acted as he did during the 1937 automobile sit-down strikes.

The Democratic executive, who has been mentioned as a possibility for appointment as United States attorney general, met yesterday with Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican, for the first time since the November election.

Commenting later that some persons have attributed his defeat for reelection to his attitude toward labor unions, Murphy said:

"Anti-labor propaganda may have led the people to believe I condoned the sit-downs and disrespect of the courts. It is all political. I acted from a historical knowledge of labor difficulties since the Civil war. I did not act with prejudice."

He said he expected no serious sit-down strikes in the future, and pledged cooperation with Fitzgerald "in everything he does for good government."

Fitzgerald declined to discuss his conference with Murphy as he left the executive office to which he will return Jan. 2 as governor. "The governor will tell you about it," he said, adding that he had enjoyed his visit.

Tax Receipts Exceed First Day Last Year

City Treasurer Joseph A. Kox yesterday collected $10,694.15 in real estate and personal property taxes, an increase of $2,906.73 over the first day last year.

Taxpayers were slow to start paying their taxes Wednesday morning but business picked up during the day to pass last year's figure. Dr. W. S. Marshall 59 N. Bellvue court, was the first to pay his real estate taxes and the Appleton Adjustment Bureau, 103 W. College avenue, was the first to pay its personal property tax.

Appleton Couple Hurt In Traffic Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Cheney, 515 N. Clark street, were injured in an automobile accident about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon between Alameda and Theresa as they were returning to Appleton after spending the holiday with relatives and friends at Milwaukee.

Mrs. Cheney suffered a broken leg and Cheney a multi-fractured jaw. They were taken to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac.

Cars driven by Cheney and Kenneth Peterson, Chicago, collided with the latter's machine skidded in front of the Cheney auto on Highway 41, it was reported to authorities.

Kiwanis Officers are Installed at Meeting

Willard J. Schenck, president, and other new officers of the Appleton Kiwanis club were installed at a meeting yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

The other new officers are Charles Bohl, vice president, Martin Van Rooy, second vice president, and Charles Swanson, secretary. Five new directors, Dr. William G. Keller, F. R. Gehrk, Dr. Cyril C. Cast, Walter Fountain, and A. James Lytle.

Paul Simmons (right) and Fred Longnecker, retired paper dish manufacturer, both of Delta, O., came face to face in Wauson, O., where Simmons pleaded guilty to attempting to obtain $25,000 from Longnecker, 60, (left), under threat of death. Sheriff Harley Loveland said Simmons told him he needed the money to get married on his 21st birthday, in January, 1939.

YOUTH MEETS INTENDED VICTIM

Chicago—(P)—Traffic deaths in the United States this year, according to a prediction by the National Safety council, will total 31,500—the lowest for any year since 1933—if the trend of the first 11 months is continued through December.

The council's expected 1938 total would show a reduction of 8,000 from the all-time high of 39,500 marked up last year and the largest decline for any one year in the nation's history.

In November, for the thirteenth consecutive month, fatalities decreased as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. Last month's total of 3,110 was 17 per cent less than in November, 1937.

Since the first of the year to Dec. 1 the council reported 28,370 persons were killed in automobile accidents, compared with 35,770 for the corresponding period last year.

The council said gasoline consumption figures disclosed the decrease in auto deaths was recorded without a reduction in highway travel.

At least 40 states had fewer traffic fatalities during the first 10 or 11 months this year as compared with the same period in 1937, with Rhode Island showing the highest reduction—37 per cent. Michigan's drop was 34 per cent.

Cities with the lowest traffic death rate per 100,000 population included:

Group 1 (over 500,000 population)—Milwaukee 6, St. Louis 10, Providence 2 (250,000 to 500,000)—Providence, R. I., 47.

Group 3 (100,000 to 250,000)—New Bedford, Mass., 29.

Group 4 (50,000 to 100,000)—Evansville, Ind., 32; Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 34; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 38.

The council said smaller cities with perfect records included Elgin, Ill.; Waukegan, Ill.; Beloit, Wis.; Wausau, Wis.

COMMITTEES TO MEET

The county airport committee will meet at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the courthouse. The radio and sheriff committees will meet at 2 o'clock at the courthouse.

Mike H. Kettchenhoff, 621 W. Fifth street, is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital where he submitted to an operation Wednesday morning.

Women's Dreams More Fanciful Than Men's

Richmond, Va.—(P)—Dreams of men and women are different. There is more beauty and more of the fantastic in women's dreams and more of the practical side in men's dreams. Dr. Charles M. Disner of the University of Cincinnati reported today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Women, he said, dream of hearing music more often, see colors more often and have more nightmares. Men have less anxious dreams, more that are embarrassing and more that they are thirsty. Both sexes tend to dream in the latter part of the night.

GOING TOO FAST

Richmond, Va.—(P)—People in the United States may be going at too fast a pace to make their sanity certain.

Dr. John W. Thompson of Harvard university today told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that both physical and mental work appear to be wearing down the nerves and reflexes of human beings who work too hard in any activity.

Fatigue of the mind and nerve cells is apparently one of the major causes of mental illness, which keeps about one out of every 10 persons in the country under medical and institutional care, he declared.

Driver Escapes Injury As Auto Hits Culvert

Charles Malueg, 22, Suring, escaped injury when the automobile he was driving skidded off Highway 47 two miles north of Appleton and struck a culvert about 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Malueg told William Glasheen, county traffic officer, that he started to pass another car when it made a left turn. When Malueg applied his brakes, he said the machine spun around several times and struck the culvert. The car was badly damaged.

Emergency Board Fund Payments Order Is Illegal

necessary vouchers. Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis upheld the board and issued peremptory writs for payment of the funds.

Upon Zimmerman's request the supreme court took jurisdiction over the dispute so that it might be settled before the change in the state administration.

Must Quash Writs

The supreme court directed Judge Reis to quash the writs he had issued, with respect to those payments it enjoined.

Two principal points stood out in Justice Fritz' decision.

One was that the "Budget B" allotments to departments and institutions, which have been released periodically since July 1, 1937, were entirely legal because the legislature laid down the standard under which they should be paid, namely to meet necessary operating expenses.

The second was that no similar standard had been decreed for making the disputed debt payments, the matter having been left to the board, without direction, as to when and in what amount the debts should be liquidated if at all. The lack of such standards made the authority granted unconstitutional, the court held.

Justice Fritz left the way open for a possible action by the state annuity and investment board, custodian of the teachers' retirement fund, to compel the state to make up the deficiency of taxes due the fund.

No Ruling On Fees

This question can be settled, however, "in the usual course of later judicial proceedings, the decision said."

Noticeable by its absence was any ruling by the court on the controversy as to whether gasoline taxes and auto license fees, when paid into the general fund, constitute a debt against the treasury in favor of the state highway department.

Zimmerman's counsel claimed that on Nov. 16 the treasury owed the highway department $23,000,000, but had a balance of only $15,000,000 in cash, therefore showing an $8,000,000 deficit.

The court passed over this question without comment. It was a subject of much controversy at the last session of the legislature, when unsuccessful efforts were made to require segregation of highway revenue.

Money Already Paid

State officials disclosed today that an income surtax deficiency of $1,358,325.52 already has been paid to the state teachers' retirement fund under Section 8 of the 1937 budget act which the supreme court has held unconstitutional.

The payments were voted on three occasions by the emergency board, which the court said had received an illegal grant of power from the legislature.

There was no dispute among officials that this amount and an additional sum of $2,703,858 involved in the litigation over the emergency board's powers, were properly owed to the retirement fund.

The state levies surtaxes upon incomes to meet its share of contributions to the fund and when the yield is not sufficient, is required by law to make up the deficit from general tax sources.

The deficit has been piling up through the depression years when income tax revenues were low.

Officers of the annuity and investment board, which is custodian of the teachers' fund, said today the fund is amply protected by statute and they were not concerned over the supreme court decision.

The high court ruled only on the manner in which the legislature authorized the deficiency to be made up—at the discretion of the emergency board. It pointed the way for further legal proceedings by the annuity board if such action should be necessary. The annuity board will meet here Jan. 13 and may determine then what steps are to be taken.

Psychiatrist Claims Crime, Insanity 'Seldom Go Together'

Detroit—(P)—Dr. H. Warren Dunham, a member of the University of Chicago Social Science Research committee, said in an address prepared for delivery today that, contrary to widespread belief, crime and insanity "seldom go together."

Dr. Dunham spoke at the thirty-third annual meeting of the American Sociological society.

Dr. Dunham said his conclusions were based on a survey of persons committed to the Illinois Security hospital, the state institution for the criminally insane. He said that 543 men committed between 1922 and 1934 were studied.

This group was found to represent only 1.7 per cent of the total of male insane cases committed to other Illinois hospitals in the same period, and only 1.3 per cent of the male criminals sent to Illinois penal institutions during the period.

"While this study takes in only Illinois and thus may be inconclusive," Dr. Dunham said, "the fact that only one in 58 insane persons was a criminal and only one in 77 criminals were insane indicates that mental disorder and crime seldom go together."

Dr. Dunham said his study was based on schizophrenics, or cases of "split personality." In the cases of schizophrenics committed for crimes, Dr. Dunham said, few had exhibited any criminal tendencies in their childhood.

Candidates May Get Papers for April Election

Filing Deadline Feb. 22; Primary March 14; Election April 4

Aldermanic and supervisory nomination papers are available in city hall and will be given to men seeking any of the 36 city and county jobs which will be vacated in the spring, according to Carl J. Becher, city clerk.

Candidates may begin circulating papers now and must file them with the city clerk before Feb. 22 to be eligible for nomination in the primary elections. It is expected the council will adopt the usual resolution setting the primary three weeks before the spring election which would be on March 14 next year. The spring election will be Tuesday, April 4.

One of the most exciting and enthusiastic elections ever held in Appleton is expected in April for all the positions of aldermen and supervisors will go on the block under a charter ordinance, adopted by voters last April, increasing the number of wards in Appleton from six to eighteen.

18 Aldermen
Under the new ordinance, 18 aldermen and 18 supervisors will be elected, one of each from each of the new wards. The ordinance stipulates that voters elect aldermen from even numbered wards in even numbered years and from uneven numbered wards in uneven numbered years. This will result in the election of nine aldermen each year and the terms remain at two years each. However, in 1939 candidates running for office in uneven numbered wards will be named for two years and candidates in even numbered wards for one year.

Voters who have not returned cards sent to them by the city clerk asking them to re-register for voting have until Saturday to do so. About 1,950 cards were sent to voters who did not cast ballots for a period of two years.

The new ordinance will make necessary a change in election records, lists, election board personnel and in various council committees. New polling places will have to be found in some of the new wards created under the ordinance, the clerk said.

FIRE LEAVES SHOE STORE AT SEYMOUR IN RUINS

Shown above are the ruins of the Kuester Shoe store, Seymour, which was destroyed by fire late Tuesday night. The fire of undetermined origin also destroyed the store stock. The stock, valued at $3,500, is covered by insurance. The fire was discovered when flames were seen shooting from the chimney. Walls and floor of the Be-Lov-Lee Beauty shop, which stands next to the shoe store, were damaged by water but the equipment and furnishings were saved. The Hallada Meat and Grocery store, on the other side of the shoe store, was not damaged.

Move to Build New Courthouse Highlighted Outagamie County Activities During Last Year

BY L. J. DERUS

The possibility of building a new Outagamie county courthouse with aid of federal funds which held the attention of county officials for several months highlighted county events during 1938.

The hope for a new courthouse sprung into prominence in May when a committee was named by the county board to secure plans. Later an application for a PWA grant was made and as the summer faded into fall, the hope dwindled. The possibility of securing any federal aid was given up by time supervisors gathered for their November meeting and no word regarding the application had been received from PWA officials.

Early in the year the large new addition to the county asylum was completed and put into use. The addition is the first structure of a 3-unit plan.

Spring Election

Only mild interest was shown in the county spring election which saw five new men named to the county board. W. B. Brown, unseated Steve Otis at Hortonville, Fred Blohm defeated Arnold Muenster at Osborn and Louis Faust was elected in place of Merritt Black at Kaukauna. Walter Olson was named in the town of Bovina to succeed William Conradt who was not a candidate for reelection, and Bert Delbridge was named to succeed Sylvester Esler, who did not run, at Kaukauna.

Partial completion of the Superhighway 41 beltline in the county was made during the summer and in the fall preliminary work for the last link section northwest of the city got underway.

Only one county officerholder was defeated in the November election. Stephen Peeters, Little Chute, Republican, unseated Arthur L. Collar, Democrat. Several officerholders were without opposition. Raymond P. Dohr, Democrat, nosed out William Crow, Republican, for reelection as district attorney. On the state ticket Congressman George Schneider, Appleton, was defeated for reelection by Joshua L. Johns, Alsoma.

Conservative Spending
With no appropriations for major projects in the county during the year and a refusal for road aid to several communities, the county supervisors slashed $134,604 from the budget for 1939 in adopting a levy of $673,875 in November. A move to build a southern connecting link between the city and superhighway was unsuccessful last spring. Another move to have a northern connecting link over Meade street was killed in the fall.

Arnold Krueger was named by the county board in November as county highway commissioner to replace Frank R. Appleton who died last year.

U. of W. Scientists Succeed In Measuring Mysterious Force

Washington—(P)—New measurements of the mysterious "force" that holds the world together were reported to the American Physical society today by University of Wisconsin scientists.

Describing two years of experimental research to find out how the force operates, Dr. Gregory Breit said two important conclusions had been reached:

1. That protons, the so-called building blocks of all substances in the universe, attract each other with an energy equal to 11,000,000 electron volts.

2. That this force becomes operative only when two protons are only one-tenth of a millionth of a millionth of an inch apart.

Although existence of the force was discovered in 1934 and announced by Carnegie institute scientists here two years ago, both the power of attraction and the range of the force had only been estimated before the Wisconsin experiments were made.

Scientists described the new measurements as being of profound importance to the whole science of physics in the search to discover the secrets of what constitutes the elements that make up the universe.

Some physicists have speculated that eventually through an understanding of the force they may be able to harness new sources of power for man's use. It is this force at work in the sun, transmitting hydrogen into helium and releasing heat energy in the process, which is accounted responsible for the fact that the sun shines on century after century without burning out.

The new force—physicists have not agreed so far on a name for it—is somewhat like the force of gravitation except that it is tremendously stronger.

One woman customer fainted.

New Rates on Coal to Go Into Effect Feb. 1

Madison—(P)—The public service commission announced today new freight rates on coal, originally scheduled to go into effect November, will be adopted Feb. 1. The effective date was delayed to allow railroads further time to prepare the new rate structures.

The commission affirmed an October order authorizing the North Western road to discontinue operation of a daily passenger and mail train between Redgranite and Bannerman, Waushara county. The commission said the present schedule, which provides for three trains a week, appeared to be "reasonable and adequate."

Study Possibilities of Building Storage Plant

A committee was named to continue investigation of the possibilities of constructing a cold storage locker plant at a meeting at Greenville last night. About 40 farmers attended the meeting to discuss creation of a cooperative to build the plant.

It Is Said--

That a checkup by an Appleton men's clothing store on the December business ending last week produced figures unusually close to those for the corresponding period of last year. This year's business was within 13 transactions and $9 of the volume for 1937.

That the Christmas recess for pupils of the county rural and state graded schools has not meant a vacation for Henry J. VanStraten, county superintendent. He is spending his time reading through several hundred books to make recommendations for the reading circle list used in the schools.

That police officials yesterday hunted for a car reported stolen from George VanderLinden, 415 E. Maple street, only to find later that it had been taken by mistake. A motorist called a local garage and asked the repairman to get his machine at the mill where he was employed. VanderLinden's machine was of the same type as that sought by the garageman who took it by mistake. The error was found in the morning.

Garage Contract Approved by PWA

Work to Begin Friday; No Word on Lincoln School Remodeling Job

Regional PWA officials today approved the contract of the Hoffman Construction company to build a garage and storeroom at the Appleton sewage treatment plant. Hoffman's bid is $9,450.

Mayor Goodland was notified by telegraph and the city clerk today sent the official notice by registered mail to the contractor, who said this afternoon he will begin work Friday morning.

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, no official approval of the Nimmer and Lemke contract to remodel Lincoln school for a city hall was received by city officials. Raymond LeVec, the architect, is in Chicago to complete arrangements for the work.

The total cost of the garage project is estimated at $11,029 and the city's share at $6,066. The PWA grant is $4,963. The building will be constructed of red brick to conform in color to other sewage plant buildings. It will be used to house cars and equipment as well as for a workshop.

New Volumes are Added at Library

'The Promises Men Live by' Among Books Now Available

New London — A new approach to economics is presented for the layman in Harry Scherman's book, "The Promises Men Live By," which features the new volumes released for circulation at the New London Public Library today. The author shows how a nation operates on credit and faith in fellow man, and explains the "mysteries" of modern money manipulation and the complexities of government finances.

Another leading book is "Upper Mississippi" by Walter Havighurst, one of a series of historical sagas on the importance of American rivers in the development of the country from earliest times.

Others among the new books is the last installment of the "Joseph in Egypt" series by Thomas Mann, the last in two volumes; "They Seek a Country," a story of pioneering in South Africa by Francis Bret Young; two Christmas books, "Christmas Days," a Cape Cod story by Joseph C. Lincoln and "Star in the East" by Winifred Kirkland; and a novel "White Orchids" by G. G. Livingston Hall.

"Meadow Trail" by Reed Fulton, a story of a youth on the trail with Kit Carson, is the only book for junior readers. Children's books include "The Gift of the River," "Outdoor Land," "The Red Piper,"

Lutheran Men's Club At Marion Has Party Marion — The Men's club of St. John's Lutheran church held a Christmas party at the church parlors Tuesday evening. Members exchanged gifts and several contests were held.

Mrs. Ray Mayo and little son, Michael, returned home Wednesday from the New London community host.

Gerard C. Schenley, superintendent of the G. M. school, is visiting with friends here.

September, 1938: Sudetens 'Freed'; Hurricane Strikes

IN ENGLAND... Chamberlain shows off German friendship agreement return from four power conference.

BY VOLTA TORREY New York — "Out of this nettle, danger, we plucked this flower, safety." Thus Neville Chamberlain summarized September's sorry story.

Repeatedly the British prime minister flew to Germany. Repeatedly the Nazis asked for more and more. Designedly the old world mobilized.

Bomb shelters were dug in London parks. Civilians tried on gas masks. France's Maginot Line was manned.

German ships were called home. Politics—Maine went Republican—was shoved off Page One. Swingsters — purring "A-Tiskit, A-Taskit" — were hushed for scary speeches. It took a hurricane to compete with Europe's eruption.

'Hell Hitler' The issue was simple: Could Reichsfuehrer Hitler help himself to a chunk of Czechoslovakia? Both sides drew their guns. Propagandists spouted atrocity stories.

France and Russia had promised to help the courageous Czechs. Britain supposedly stood behind France. But Hitler could—and did—"free" the Germanic peoples of Czechoslovakia.

Twice President Roosevelt pleaded for peace. Chamberlain, Hitler,

Let There be No Confusion About Who Wrote This Stuff

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER New York—Finding himself in a mellow, holiday mood, the author of these dispatches has decided to do something rather handsome for posterity.

You know how it is when great writers die and leave their papers in a jumble. Their kinsfolk fail to appreciate the importance to the world of the spoiled leads, the magazine rejects, the letters and all which lie about their desks and permit these priceless mementos to be carried off as souvenirs by perceptive worshippers or just thrown away and burned as trash. Or, if their kinsfolk be smart and without public spirit, these papers become the private property of their heirs and are kept in private possession, inaccessible except by special permission, grudgingly given if given at all, to students of the life and times, the inner character and the achievements of the deceased.

In either case, the result is a great loss, or great denial, to the world in after years, and any man with the sense of value to permit him to recognize his own greatness and the courage to admit it to himself and the public owes it to mankind to make appropriate arrangements.

Therefore your correspondent has decided to bequeath the contents of his desk to the public. The letters on the right-hand pile are the latest ones, and those of the left have been lying around for some time, awaiting answers. Quite a lot of them never will be answered, anyway, because your correspondent doesn't know the answers, and there are others in both heaps which will not be answered because they are indecipherable.

There are also a lot of books and pamphlets for and against nazifascism and communism, and it has often occurred to your correspondent, along with a distinct chill, that if it ever should happen here, one way or another, he wouldn't stand a Chinaman's chance in one of those kitchen table people's courts, because he surely would be caught with subversive literature. The communists would blow him through for a counter-revolutionist for possessing the Hitler and Mussolini stuff accumulated in Europe, and the fascists, turned to bullets instead of ballots, would refuse to believe that the Browder and Trotsky stuff was innocently held. That, however, is just an aside.

It's a Duty to the World to Admit Greatness The obstacle to this decision was a mere matter of taste and self-appreciation. Yet, if a president perceives himself to be a latter-day Lincoln and his political opponents traitors of the contemptible type who beset the path of the martyr, it is his duty to the world to admit his greatness and take steps to preserve the records of his struggle for future generations. A too sensitive regard for modesty might object, but such a man's very greatness would carry him over this petty obstacle and give him the candor to recognize himself as a historic figure, in some quarters, insufficiently appreciated benefactor. If a great man foresees that in fifty or a hundred years the people will wish they had a shrine to him, equipped with papers and intimate relics of interest to historians and of inspiration to citizens, he should not wait for the future to conform his own opinion.

With the case of William Shakespeare in mind, your correspondent has decided to obviate the deplorable confusion and doubts which have bedegged the record and to prevent any necessity, five hundred years from now, for delving yield.

They scoffed at Shakespeare, didn't they?

Waupaca County in Potato Growing Area

Waupaca—Waupaca county has been designated as a commercial potato growing county, and along with 47 other Wisconsin counties will participate in the potato program. Out of the county's total soil depletion acreage assignment, 11,266 acres have been set aside as a potato acreage allotment. Payment rates will be based upon the normal yield of each farm and will be made at the rate of 3 cents for each bushel of potatoes in the normal dred years from now, for delving yield.

Severson Becomes Judge Next Month

Plans to Take Oath of Office at Stevens Point

Waupaca — Senator Herman J. Severson will take his oath of office as judge of the circuit court at Stevens Point Saturday before Judge Byron B. Park, who is retiring after 25 years on the circuit court bench of Wood, Portage, Waushara and Waupaca counties.

Senator Severson has served 20 consecutive years in the legislature's upper house—the oldest member of the Wisconsin state senate in point of service. This also marks Mr. Severson's fortieth year of legal practice in Waupaca county.

Floor leader for the Progressive forces in the state senate since his election in 1916 he retained that leadership until the governor announced his plans for a special session. Opposing the special session, he surrendered the floor leadership of the Progressive bloc to others.

He is perhaps best known for his sponsorship of the Severson dry law during the administration of Governor John Blaine in 1921.

Although offices will be maintained in the courthouse at Waupaca, the Seversons will maintain their residence in Iowa.

The first term of circuit court will be an adjourned session in Portage county, opening Jan. 9 at Stevens Point.

Every Man Now Is Becoming His Own Defense Strategist

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Each day makes it more clear that we haven't a reliable idea of what we need for adequate national defense. Every man is his own strategist now and arriving legislators have their pockets stuffed with defense plans and requests from local chambers of commerce for new airplane factories, new army posts, training schools and other choicest of political defense work.

They are already shoving the Florida ship canal at us again. The last time it was offered as a gigantic work relief project but congress objected. Now it is being dressed up as a national defense scheme. Only a matter of time and we will have the Passamaquoddy tide-harnessing scheme revived as a national defense project. Don't be surprised to wake up and find that a drive is on for a big naval base on the upper Mississippi. Why not? It would help business and provide the fleet with an inland base immune from attack.

Not only laymen but the experts are confused. They hear rumors that Hitler has 10,000 planes and promptly demand the same for us. You will find one crowd of experts saying our air force needs but little expansion and that the important thing is experimental progress in designing faster models together with industrial preparations for quick enlargement of production capacity when required.

A rival school of experts says that scheme is inadequate, that with the air force, as with the navy, initial striking power is what counts, and that we must be prepared at all times to overcome any surprise attack because once war has come it is too late to build planes and ships.

So you have experts taking various stances all the way from no more planes to 13,500 planes, and up. One group wants the western hemisphere encased in a ring of those who say that if the Panama canal was good enough for the first Roosevelt it's good enough for this one.

Need An Inquiry By A Joint Committee

All of which says pointedly that we need a general inquiry, by a joint congressional committee, to consider all aspects and to sift out a balanced conclusion. Demand for such a joint committee is growing. It is recommended by a committee on national defense in a report to the national peace conference. Such a committee would combine within its membership Democratic and Republican members of the regular house and senate committees which have to do with army, navy, aviation, foreign policy, and financing. Mainly the purpose would be to bring all phases of the defense problem into one inquiry instead of scattering them about among separate committees, as it were, where it would be almost impossible to dovetail a balanced program covering land, air and sea. Recommendations from such a joint committee would be entitled to, and would receive, the confidence of the public.

Layman Must Trust To Experts' Judgment

On this kind of question, few of us can have an intelligent opinion. So much of it is technical that the layman must trust mainly to the judgment of a group of careful and well-balanced experts. A joint committee of seasoned and informed legislators would serve as a jury and, when it was through digesting the testimony of experts, it's con-

Thelma Peterson Dies After 10-Day Illness

Clintonville—Thelma, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson, 78 W. Fourteenth street, died at 2 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Clintonville Community hospital after a 10-day illness with pneumonia. She was born in Clintonville June 1, 1932. Besides the parents, survivors are a half brother, Ivan Nordstrand, and two sisters, Jean and Nelda Peterson. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Heuer Funeral home by the Rev. E. C. Westhouse, pastor of Bethany church. Burial will be made in Graceland cemetery.

clusions would be as sound and safe as is possible under our system.

Without doubt the country wants adequate defense. Everyone in congress wants it. The only argument is as to what constitutes adequate defense. Strong opposition exists to unwarranted expense. Republicans and peace organizations are ready to pounce on any crackpot or hysterical schemes that come up wearing the false whiskers of national defense.

The administration, for its own protection and for the protection of the country, needs to have a program that has been carefully combined over and put together. A joint congressional committee is the best protection the administration can have against the twin mistakes of inadequate defense and wasteful expenditure.

HOPKINS IN THE CABINET

The nomination of Harry L. Hopkins, fresh from spreading the political and nonpolitical billions through WPA, to a cabinet position will likely provoke senatorial fireworks but should result in confirmation unless there is forthcoming direct evidence of corruption.

Just what this evidence should be is not so clear. Few will believe that Mr. Hopkins was the direct recipient of corrupt money. No one has advanced any evidence to sustain any such assertion.

But that Mr. Hopkins has winked at corruption, smiled at it, shaken it by the hand, and never done anything more harmful to it than to publicly announce that he was against it, can be supported by stacks of evidence as high as the clouds.

On the other hand the President's right to name the members of his official family has always been given great elasticity. If the senate makes him nominate someone he does not like the office is virtually vacant since no law can make the two clutch.

New Dealers have been fertile in their stories to justify altered plans. But the argument in support of Mr. Hopkins is a Mona Lisa, Empire State Building and a chain of the Rocky Mountains. It is to the effect that Mr. Hopkins really didn't like wastage, honestly was in favor of capitalism and believed fundamentally in our form of government but realized that he was put at the head of WPA to get rid of money, to waste the billions of the people and therefore wasted them like a William the Conqueror. It is a great story. And so is Cinderella.

The maneuvers of this administration in changing from sackcloth to silk bring to mind a great vaudeville artist that traveled through Wisconsin about 30 years ago. He was known as Quick Change. Appearing on the stage as Abraham Lincoln he walked off and almost immediately reappeared as Gladstone or Washington. The secret of his success was in having several aides to place upon him wig, beard, paint and clothes at practically the same time.

This gentleman is now dead but his system persists.

THE PEOPLE AND THEIR GOVERNMENT

At the recent election in Illinois there was submitted to the people a proposal for a constitutional amendment. Counting the votes last pro and con upon the subject the proposal carried by a very handsome majority.

But it is claimed that in Illinois under the language of their constitution an amendment is not passed unless a majority of all the people who cast ballots at that election favor it, and since more than half the people who went to the polls didn't even take the time to vote upon such an important matter as an amendment to their own constitution, the proposal has been lost.

In New York at the same time proposals to amend the state constitution were submitted to the voters. Lacking the Illinois provision concerning blank ballots certain of the New York proposals were carried. But, although five million people voted at that election less than half voted upon the amendment proposals. The others simply crushed their ballots and tossed them in the waste baskets either because they didn't care the subject was too deep for them, or they hadn't taken time to familiarize themselves with the details.

Of course this is a shocking condition in a democracy where the public interest is so largely dependent upon for correct and satisfactory policies. But, all plaudits and soft soap aside, it is much too often the way things go.

It does not mean that the people are hateful of their responsibilities nor indifferent to their privileges. It does mean that they are downright careless.

It does not mean that they will voluntarily permit some sleight of hand artist to deprive them of inherent rights. But it does mean that they may be deprived while they are asleep at the switch.

It does not mean that they are incapable of understanding or passing upon the feasibility of basic principles that must be placed in the constitution. But it does mean that only a most energetic campaign aimed at arousing them to the importance of their decision will get them to vote.

And this is a revealing fact to be emphasized in order to indicate the utter impossibility of getting decent, orderly government out of referendums.

SWINDLERS AND THEIR VICTIMS

America's responsibility in an affair like the masquerade of the famous Musica brothers is extensive.

It won't be long before some European or South American criminal at bay before the law will justify by citing the Musicas as his inspiration.

Criminals, as a matter of fact, need neither example nor cooperation. As they read of the escapades of others their criminal tendencies are not stimulated half so much as their methods. They are not tempted particularly to commit crimes that otherwise would remain uncommitted. But they may be induced to use a certain formula that has been put to use by some spectacular criminal figuring that they will improve upon his ideas and save themselves from the fatal exposure.

There was in recent history a much greater fraud in France than that of Serge Stavisky who merely took the prize because of his political connections. There was the marvelous Mme. Marthe Hanau who carried off the sugar for an easy 20 million dollars in our money which represents a much more formidable fortune in France.

Mme. Hanau might have been a great case for Dr. Freud but the thousands who played sucker and even insist to this day that all was above board should be examined by some psychoanalyst to see whether or not there isn't a certain herd fever about people, an instinct that makes many of them run as did the buffaloes on our western prairies even when the leader was bringing them to certain death.

Mme. Hanau used a magazine which she published to tip off its readers to great bargains which she also supervised. That is a very old game but the Madame claimed loudly that her procedure was distinctly "l'Americaine" as though that were a defense. Stoutly she maintained complete innocence to the end. At forgeries she shrugged her shoulders. At duplicated books she exclaimed "Mais oui." At empty bank accounts she mumbled something like "Assassin." But always she maintained that conditions in her companies were even better than painted whereas in fact there was so little left it could hardly be called a husk.

But when the Madame, tiring at her cell where she awaited trial, went on a hunger strike, over 6,000 of her dupes paraded up and down around her prison chanting, "Live for our sakes, we have confidence in you."

But the Madame had little confidence in herself or feared French justice, bungling, uncertain and screwy as it is, and went to meet her Maker one night long in advance of her allotted time leaving only this note:

"Adieu. I reject this life. I have suffered too much in the contradiction of my soul and my destiny. I wish my body to be incinerated by mercenary hands and the ashes scattered to the four winds."

There are many of those who lost their money with the Madame who still insist she was a good woman, as dependable as gold, as honest as the stars but that she had been destroyed by some mysterious powers gathered near and far.

And that is one of the most curious and unexplainable things about swindles, how the swindled still persist in their faith.

After all it is pretty hard to have a swindler without the swindled and in a great many cases the latter by their utter carelessness certainly make the career of the former easier to put over.

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC

"I have seen him in the watchfires of a hundred circling camps; They have builded him an altar in the evening dews and damps; I can read his righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps; His day is marching on."

The Battle Hymn of the Republic is a meaty and heroic song written to the tune of John Brown's Body and inspired by a tip of the author, Julia Ward Howe, through one of the Civil War camps outside Washington.

Mrs. Howe, recognizing the stirring melody in John Brown's Body, aspired to preserve the cunning features of the music by substituting a broader theme than that of the execution of old Brown, a man who walked toward certain death because frenzied at the wrongs of slavery.

But now the Daughters of the Confederacy have undertaken to rewrite Mrs. Howe's potent lines in certain particulars in order to give the Battle Hymn of the Republic a still wider jurisdiction and make it national in scope and feeling. This should not be particularly difficult since Mrs. Howe used general language devoid of bitterness or sectionalism, the above verse being imprinted with as much partisan spirit as anything the song contained.

As it is, this grand piece of music remains sectional more from associations than anything else and thus has unfortunately lost even in the north the great strength it should have retained.

More power therefore to the women of the south if the change of a few words will satisfy their feelings and produce at the same time a truly national anthem upon the structure of as inspiring and yet turbulent music as ever caused men to clinch their fists and set their jaws in determination.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—As some of us long have suspected, the jitterbug has now been officially recognized as a sick person. A New York night club (The Yacht Club) has installed a trained nurse, with smelling salts, alcohol rubs, headache powders and such, to minister to the Swingeros.

It started as a gag, for everything Broadway does has a gag at the bottom of it, but the idea turned out to be a godsend, and the nurse herself, heretofore accustomed only to legitimate illness, wonders why Jitterbugs haven't been treated as patients long before now.

On the first evening of the operation of the First Aid Station, the nurse treated twenty cases. Business has been good ever since.

What happens is this: The Jitterbugs start out calmly and sedately. As the rhythm intrudes subtly into their bloodstream, they swing with greater abandon until soon they are jumping and jiggling and whirling like maniacs. My language may be strong because I'm prejudiced.

"Finally," said the nurse, and she was serious about it, "the Jitterbugs, as they seem to be called, virtually knock themselves out. They are exhausted. They stagger over to the First Aid Station, and I administer restoratives as seems best—smelling salts and powders to reduce the throbbing of their heads."

After about 15 minutes the dancers are sufficiently recovered to start all over again. That is the peculiar part of it. Having knocked themselves out once, they seek a hurried cure so they can go forth and knock themselves out again.

The year 1932 in New York: Every third person opened a cafe on 52nd St. The biggest hit of the year was a musical madness with a title which one radio chain declined to permit its announcers to mention over the air, for fear (I assume) of corrupting public morals. I'll take a chance and name it: "Hellzapoppin'."

Gigli returned to the Metropolitan, the G-men having cleaned out the horrible American gangsters of which Mussolini often speaks. (Gigli quit America several years ago shortly after receiving kidnap threats.)

Billy Rose revived vaudeville as a gag—and found a success on his hands.

Leon (of Leon and Eddie's) continued to moan that night club business was lousy (and kept on getting round shouldered carrying the profits to the bank).

The Sixth Avenue El went out of business, and people who lived along the line are now learning to sleep in comparative silence.

More grand opera was offered New Yorkers than in any previous year of the city's history; also more Flat Foot Floogie with the Floy-Floy.

Mayor LaGuardia had another record year tearing up streets and putting them back together again.

The Yankees won the World's Series and I should have had more sense than bet on the Cubs.

There has never been a year that has seen such a boom in new night clubs as this. The latest and one of the costliest is Harry Richman's Road to Mandalay, an adventure in interpreting Kipling in terms of cocktails. To build it, a considerable part of the ground floor of the Hotel Delmonico was made over, the cost of the finished club being announced as $220,000. You can figure out how many cocktails Mr. Richman must sell to get that kind of money back.

The slowly returning tendency toward formality which was so noticeable just before the Depression knocked such ideas out of people's heads, is well marked in the new enterprise. The club has three divisions—a Supper Room, the Mandalay Bar, and the Formal Lounge. In the Lounge, which opens onto Park Avenue, one must dress—a requirement of very few places nowadays.

The Club gets its name from murals which tell the story of the Kipling poem.

10 YEARS AGO

Several members of the Appleton Fire department, including Fire Chief George P. McGillan, narrowly escaped serious injury early the previous evening when the big pump truck No. 1, which was leading the way to answer a call on Summit street, skidded at the corner of W. College avenue and Summit street, blocking the way of the hook and ladder truck, the police car and the fire chief's car which were following close behind. Drivers of the various vehicles managed to avoid a pile-up and none of the fire equipment was damaged.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

YOU AND I

You and I often walk out side by side. Carefully closing the wide oaken door. Vainly I try to match your swinging stride. And clinging to you, face the cold once more.

When the last door swings on the outer dark; When on the silver stream falls bitter weather, May you and I with happy hearts embark. And make the ending pilgrimage together.

A Bystander In Washington

Washington—The Bureau of Indian affairs only now is discovering what happens when an irresistible force meets the Navajo reservation.

Of all the tough pieces of Indian diet that the bureau has to bite off, the Navajo problem is one of the primest.

It must be kept in mind that the Navajos are a peculiar people. They don't move around much. At one time they were a wandering people but since the Spanish conquest they have been content to live a sort of sequestered life on the deserts of Northern New Mexico. They have about 16,000,000 acres of land assigned to them but it is desert land providing scant fare even for the hungriest of sheep.

And more serious still, it is steadily being spoiled by erosion. Further the Navajo population is increasing. Sixty years ago when they took on reservation life, there were perhaps 9,000 Navajos as the Indian Bureau records indicate. Now there are 50,000 and Ethnologists predict that within the next generation or so the number will be double or even quadruple that.

Election Trouble
But those are only major long time problems which will trouble future generations. More immediate problems are concerned with winning elections.

It was a year or more ago that the Indian Bureau campaigned through the reservation in favor of the Indian reorganization bill. The bureau looked upon it as a godsend to the Indians, since it offered them increased self government, further allotments of government cash, and other little benefactions.

On the Navajo reservation about 97 per cent of the population do not speak or write English and there are no adequate Indian phrases for explaining the reorganization bill. It was decided that Indians wanting to accept the reorganization act could sign with a cross and those opposing it could sign the ballot with a circle. But that was the end of the reorganization act.

Opponents of the measure, who looked upon it with suspicion regardless of its promised benefits, campaigned among the Indians. They didn't discuss the Indian bill. They discussed what a horrible thing it would be for the Indians to have anything to do with a cross. That is what the white men use to mark graves, the opposition leaders argued. They even have it on their churches. On the other hand, went the argument, the circle is the symbol of completion, of the full life, of the rightness of things.

Too Many Circles
And when election day came around there were more circles than crosses so the reorganization plan was defeated.

But that was not all. The bureau officials desired that new members of the Indian council to be elected should be at least open minded on the question of soil conservation. After all, the Navajo reservation is being rapidly washed away, even though there is scarcely a single year-round stream on it.

But again came the trouble of the ballots. The Indians could not read. So the scheme was hit upon of having each candidate identified with a certain color. Philip Blue-Goose, friendly to the bureau plans, would be represented by a blue slip of paper at the ballot box. Other favorable candidates would be green, yellow or gray.

On the other hand, opposition candidates would be represented by other colors, such as red or purple. What happened?

Merits of the candidates were overlooked. Instead the Indians considered special merits of red (opposition) as distinguished from blue. By tough luck, all the favorite Indian colors were awarded to opposition candidates and the bureau candidates were defeated.

The layman, too, may monkey with vitamins or vitamin concentrates as much as he likes without the slightest risk of suffering any injury or harm from "overdose." Vitamins are food. Don't be silly about it.

Well marked or manifest scurvy is rare today, but mild vitamin C deficiency is far more common than most doctors or laymen would suppose, the characteristic disturbance of health due to a diet which is poor in vitamin C. The symptoms may be present for months or years, never progressing to a stage which may be recognized as scurvy. The symptoms are a sallow, muddy complexion, loss of energy, fleeting pains in the joints and limbs, especially in the legs—and the pains are commonly attributed to "rheumatism." With these physical symptoms, there is often a constant mental depression, a gloomy disposition, or an irritable or quarrelsome temperament. Sluggishness, laziness of mental torpor in a young person may be a manifestation of vitamin C deficiency. Of course the test of the diagnosis is the treatment. ## NEW FIRE BOMB

London—(U)—Another possible War Horror was revealed by A. R. Astbury. "ARP" technical adviser of the Home office.

He told a meeting of a new and highly potent incendiary bomb so light that one airplane can carry 2,000.

It is known as the "Kilo-Electron" bomb, and one large bomber could drop 10 to 20 at a time. "The bombs spread-out as they fall," said Astbury.

Well marked or manifest beriberi is rarely diagnosed in the United States, tho there is reason to believe it has occurred as a complication of, or in association with other conditions fairly frequently in recent years, unrecognized because physicians in this part of the world have not yet learned to recognize what has been regarded as a tropical or oriental disease. Certainly all well informed practitioners in this country are now on the alert for the signs of vitamin B deficiency, whether the condition is severe enough to be called beriberi or some milder manifestation.

Five years ago American medical literature contained virtually nothing on vitamin deficiency. Today the medical journals are giving nearly as much space to articles about vitamin deficiencies as they give to squawks about the latest new social or state medicine—and I mean here now.

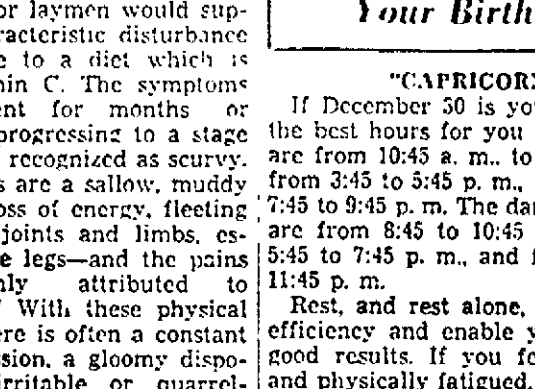

What the medical profession, the real doctors, do not know about vitamin deficiency will fill many books five or ten years hence. One thing too many doctors have yet to learn, and they ought to learn it now if they are not too old to learn, is that vitamins are food, not medicine. They ought to begin to suspect by this time that the dire consequences some bright theorists would have the lowly practitioner imagine "overdoses" or this or that vitamin or vitamin concentrate produce, occur only in the imagination of the busy theorists who cannot catch "dangers."

The layman, too, may monkey with vitamins or vitamin concentrates as much as he likes without the slightest risk of suffering any injury or harm from "overdose." Vitamins are food. Don't be silly about it.

Well marked or manifest scurvy is rare today, but mild vitamin C deficiency is far more common than most doctors or laymen would suppose, the characteristic disturbance of health due to a diet which is poor in vitamin C. The symptoms may be present for months or years, never progressing to a stage which may be recognized as scurvy. The symptoms are a sallow, muddy complexion, loss of energy, fleeting pains in the joints and limbs, especially in the legs—and the pains are commonly attributed to "rheumatism." With these physical symptoms, there is often a constant mental depression, a gloomy disposition, or an irritable or quarrelsome temperament. # Wagner Labor Act Is Here to Stay, Lawrence States

Most Opponents Can Hope for New Provisions in Law

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Even though congress probably will not get organized for serious consideration of legislative changes for another month or so, the discussions going on right now among returning senators and representatives, as reflected in newspaper interviews, might easily give the impression that certain laws are already slated for repeal or drastic revision.

There is, on the other hand, no escaping the fact that group pressures are crystallizing and that certain factions and interests which desire change are beginning to line up strength for the coming battles.

Two outstanding examples are the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act and the Wagner Labor Relations act. The first is an outcropping of tariff grievances. Disaffected groups which have been hurt by the grade agreements now are concentrating on the idea of forcing all agreements to be ratified by the United States senate. This is an indirect way of killing the whole trade agreement policy, because it means that the necessary two-thirds approval is virtually impossible to get in the senate, due to the fact that agricultural or manufacturing groups can be mobilized sufficiently to put pressure on enough senators to defeat any ratification.

Foreign Advantages

If the United States goes back to the days of trying to negotiate senate ratification of agreements involving trade matters, the foreign governments which have the parliamentary system will regain the advantages they have had in applying new duties whenever economic conditions change suddenly. Like wise, there will be little opportunity for any general tariff revision by congress which could promote trade, because negotiations between foreign governments and the senate cannot very well be carried on as a practical matter.

The trade agreements policy is a cardinal part of the administration program, and, if it becomes the football of politics, it may well be expected that President Roosevelt will not hesitate to use his veto power against any effort to sabotage the law by making senate ratification essential to the promulgation of any trade agreements. The supreme court has upheld the power of congress to delegate to a federal commission or to the executive agencies the authority to make trade agreements with foreign governments, just as the flexible tariff laws were previously upheld by the courts. So it is entirely now a question of public opinion, as it reacts upon the new congress.

As for the Wagner Labor Relations act, it is being assumed quite erroneously that the American federation of labor is going to join with the employer opponents of the law to sabotage its collective bargaining provisions or to weaken them. The A. F. of L. interest is to strengthen, rather than narrow, the provisions which permit or encourage unionization. It is primarily concerned with the right of the board to designate the "appropriate unit" for collective bargaining and for procedural changes, but, beyond this, there are grave doubts that the A. F. of L. will allow its congressional supporters to break down the act itself.

Start of Fight

The fight will begin when the nomination of Donald Wakefield Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations board, comes up for confirmation. Mr. Smith has been selected as the target for attack, not because he is different from the other members of the board, but because his term of office happens to expire now. If the other two members were up for reappointment, they would be fought on precisely the same grounds.

This will be admitted by opponents of Mr. Smith, and it is clear evidence that the fight is personal and is directed toward the supporters of the law itself, if not to an attempt to put pressure on the board to modify by regulation some of its practices and procedures.

When Senator Burke of Nebraska, Democrat, publicly concedes that, if the labor board were less uncompromising about accepting amendments of its practices, there would be less opposition to Mr. Smith's reappointment, it is a disclosure of the strategy which is actuating those who want to see the Wagner act amended.

Fight Against Change

Unfortunately, from the standpoint of strategy, the labor board defenders have been unwilling to concede that the Wagner law needs any amendments or revisions. They have elected to fight against change of any kind. This is a mistake, for it has encouraged opponents to use extreme tactics. For it will be relatively easier for them to line up votes to defeat confirmation of Mr. Smith than it will be to get important amendments to the Wagner law passed. Likewise, if the publicity centering around the fight against Mr. Smith produces an inquiry into the procedures adopted by the labor board, the opportunity will be presented to opponents of the board to line up more and more votes on the confirmation issue.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't have any veto power with respect to Mr.

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The condition of the state's exchequer continues to worry politicians and private leaders of public opinion alike.

More and more the term "deficit" is being used in descriptions of the state's financial picture, significantly in view of the fact that Wisconsin has long prided itself on the fact that it is one of the few industrial states which have managed to keep itself free of debt.

That there should be so much misunderstanding of the exact position of state finances during the present transition period from Progressive to Republican administration is also significant. It shows that it is about time that the system of bookkeeping in the state capitol is overhauled.

TOO LATE

While there are different ideas on the position of the state as it relates to finances, one experienced student of state affairs has pointed out a very important fact in the discussion of the apparent inevitability of new taxes.

Wisconsin has long grown used to the idea that income and inheritance taxes are in the long run the fairest and most efficient means for supporting governmental activities. With the treasury perilously low just now, and with demands for expenditures at a new high, this student pointed out, income and inheritance taxes will not meet the need. The reason is that any income or estate taxes ordered now will not begin to produce for many more months. If a new tax is levied, it will have to be of the kind which will start the state cash registers tinkling almost immediately.

The most obvious expedient, of course, is a sales tax, which will be about the most difficult to get through the legislature. In case anyone has missed it, one of the most important statements in many months on state problems was issued the other day by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance. The Alliance was formed for the central purpose of reducing taxes and for more efficient tax spending. The Alliance in a public release, announced its opinion that it will be "very difficult" to secure tax reductions in 1939.

THE SUPREME COURT

Probably the most respected men in the state capitol are the seven distinguished, elderly, black-gowned gentlemen who make up the state supreme court. Over the years the feeling has grown in capitol circles that the east wing upper in the capitol is hallowed ground. There you tread quietly, never slam doors, speak softly. There was a feeling—just as all over America—that supreme court justices are set apart from the rest of mankind. It is a pleasure to report, therefore, that the seven high juries are pretty good fellows, and that they recently performed an act which elicits the warm approval and appreciation of a special class of state-house toilers, the newspaper reporters.

For years, the monthly opinion days of the court were dreaded by reporters because they had no adequate place to work in the vicinity of the court's chamber, and because there were never enough

Smith's appointment. If a majority of the senate refuses to confirm, he must offer somebody else for the post, and then there must be a concession to the views of the majority again in the type of man selected. If, on the other hand, the president decides to allow certain essential amendments to the law to be made and indicates he will approve them, some of the opposition to Mr. Smith's reappointment will crumble.

So far as sabotaging the act is concerned, the opponents of the law might as well forget it, because Mr. Roosevelt still holds the veto power and there is no existence in this congress nowhere near the two-thirds necessary to repeal the Wagner act or any of its cardinal provisions. The most that opponents can hope for is the introduction of new provisions which will simplify and make better balanced the conduct of hearings and the procedures. But the Wagner act itself is here to stay.

Sturgeon Season Will Open Jan. 1

Game Warden Calls Attention to Ice Fishing Regulations

With the ice fishing season getting into full swing, Emil Kramer, game warden, today called attention of fishermen to ice fishing regulations. Fishermen are moving their shanties out on Lake Winnebago and the number is expected to exceed that of last season, according to Kramer. He said shanties may be used only for fishing sturgeon. Windbreaks, 1 or 2-sided may be used for white bass, pike, pickerel and perch.

The sturgeon season opens Jan. 1 and closes Feb. 15. The season bag limit is five with no size limit. The season on perch, white bass, pike and pickerel closes on Jan. 15. The daily bag limit on perch is 25 with 6 inches as the minimum length. The daily bag limit on white bass is 25 with a minimum length of 7 inches. The daily bag limit on pike is seven with a minimum length of thirteen inches. The daily bag limit on pickerel is eight with a minimum length of 18 inches.

Ice fishing from cars or at night is prohibited. Shanties and windbreaks experienced than the $2,400 a year man. Thus today the department is spending $9,400 a year for the work which cost $3,800 a year ago.

Moreover, the fourth man, who went to the WAA, gets $4,200, and will probably get a raise.

Jacob Koehn Purchases Home in Second Ward

Jacob Koehn has purchased a house in the Second ward from George H. Kesting. Mr. Koehn does not plan to live in the newly acquired home. The real estate transfer has been filed with A. L. Collier, Outagamie county register of deeds. The following transfers also have been filed at the deeds office:

Paul Damro et al, to Helmer Damro, four lots in the city of Kaukauna.

Julius Briceo to Joseph Briceo et al, 160 acres of land in the town of Deer Creek.

breaks must be removed from the ice by March 1. All shanties, windbreaks or other enclosures must bear the name and address of the owner.

Kramer said that the law limiting the number of tip-ups to two will be rigidly enforced this season. The law was not enforced last season because it went into effect on the first of the year and many fishermen were not acquainted with the regulation.

Helen Jeanne Ingold Wed to Captain Douglas Johnson in Colorful Military Ceremony

IN A FORMAL MILITARY WEDDING, one of the most colorful events of the holiday season, Miss Helen Jeanne Ingold, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson Ingold, 733 E. College avenue, became the bride of Captain Douglas Valentine Johnson, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., Wednesday evening in the First Congregational church.

Silver-trimmed fir trees and lighted white tapers in tall candelabra decorated the chancel, where the ceremony was solemnized at 8:30 by the Rev. John B. Hanna in the presence of 600 friends and relatives of the young principals.

Leading the bridal procession to the altar were six uniformed officers of the United States and Irish armies. Major George P. Hays, Chicago, G. S. C. H. Q. Sixth corps area; Captain Welborn B. Griffith, Ft. Leavenworth, infantry; Captain Francis W. Cray, Chicago, field artillery; Captain Joseph P. Emphy, Irish army infantry officer now studying in this country; Captain Patrick Curran, Irish army field artillery officer, also studying in this country; and Captain David Erskine, Ft. Leavenworth, field artillery.

Immediately following them were the four bridesmaids, Mrs. Carl K. Wettengel, Racine, Mrs. John Moss, Milwaukee, Mrs. William A. Reeves, Norfolk, Va., a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Louise Marston, Madison, a cousin of the bride. Miss Mary Van Nortwick Alsted was Miss Ingold's maid of honor.

Yards and yards of crisp white net over silver lame fashioned the full-skirted gowns worn by the bridesmaids. The dresses were designed with fitted bodices, short puffed sleeves and heart-shaped decolletages. Miss Alsted's gown was styled like those of the bridesmaids, but was worn over gold lame instead of silver. All of the young women wore sandals to harmonize with their gowns and carried sheaf bouquets of scarlet poinsettias.

Construction in Appleton Slumps During Last Year

Estimates Show 1938 About $195,000 Under 1937 Figure

BY E. L. BISILX
Construction in Appleton during 1938 slumped to less than half of the previous year in estimated value with records compiled by Albert C. Rule, building inspector, showing estimated figures of $764,840 compared to $1,745,725 for 1937.

However, the 1937 figure does not show the true picture of normal building that year for $765,000 of the estimate was for the new senior high school. The normal building estimate for 1937 was $960,725, only $195,885 more than last year. The records show that Appleton is growing towards the north and west mainly, with Parkway boulevard leading the growth list with $65,700 in estimated construction. Building on Wisconsin avenue totaled $46,985 while construction on Commercial street is figured at $27,450. Other streets where building totals were high last year are Washington street, $26,680; College avenue, $25,030; Bouten street, $23,950; Walnut street, $20,100; and Alvin street, $19,850.

Trend Northwest

The trend towards construction in the north and west again is shown in the separation by wards with the Fifth ward leading the list, $195,005. The Sixth ward is second with $177,545 in estimated construction and the Fourth ward third with $155,440. Other wards show: Third ward, $120,760; First ward, $98,063; and Second ward, $57,025.

Construction men questioned on the reasons for the slump in building during 1938 blame the business recession earlier in the year and the fact that business is coming back slowly even with the billions released by the federal government through the PWA and WPA. The threat of labor troubles in the building trades is another reason given by contractors for building inactivity.

Although many homes were built and valued from $6,000 to $10,000, the general trend during the year was toward cheaper residences, mostly in the $4,000 class. During the previous year, the trend was towards $5,000 and $6,000 homes.

$555,700 in Homes

Home building during 1938 totaled an estimated $555,700, which still is some $5,000 over the previous high of $551,000 in 1929, reputed to be a base for calculating comparative prosperity. The low building year in the depression was 1934. Activities began early in 1935 and the year's total for new homes was slightly below the high 1929 figure. In 1936, the total value of new homes built in Appleton jumped to about $100,000 more than in 1929 and in 1937 again advanced to more than $200,000 higher than 1929.

A total of 420 permits was issued by the inspector during the year compared to 472 during 1937 and included new building, remodeling and repair work. A total of 130 permits was issued for new dwellings compared to 157 during the previous year.

The peak month for home building in 1938 came in June when 20 permits for homes valued at $91,650 were granted. In 1937, the peak came in April when 24 permits for homes estimated at $116,887 were issued. In 1938, 28 permits were issued for homes valued at $99,790 in August.

More For Remodeling

More money was spent this year for remodeling work than during 1937. There were 185 permits totaling an estimated $91,110 granted in 1938 compared to 157 permits valued at $78,093 during the previous year.

Garages built in 1937 topped last year's total when 79 permits were issued for work valued at $17,000.

Judge Smith, Former Seymour Man, in Suit

Tomahawk, Wis.—Certified complaints were served today upon Municipal Judge Ellsworth G. Smith and others in a tax payer action charging the judge with failure to turn over to the city $391 in fines collected by his court since June, 1936.

The action is based on city records which purport to show Judge Smith reported last Jan. 12 collection of fines totalling $444 since May 27, 1936, but that he filed with the report a $33 claim against the city and has paid none of the balance.

State law requires the court to report fines on each first Monday of November. Judge Smith's report of 1936 collections is overdue since Nov. 7, according to the complaint. The city council in 1936 and 1937 asked the judge to make monthly reports.

Judge Smith formerly practiced law at Seymour, Wis.

compared to 11 permits for garages valued at $15,810 in 1937.

Total estimated construction for the months of 1938 follows: January, $17,700; February, $21,950; March, $54,965; April, $43,000; May, $71,590; June, $103,055; July, $75,245; August, $95,035; September, $77,635; October, $98,100; November, $67,465; and December, $40,000.

Merchants Report on Yuletide Trade; Patrons More Pleasant

Buying volume about equal with last year's or perhaps a little above . . . Better-natured and more easily pleased shoppers . . . Gifts for the home receiving particular attention . . . An encouraging ratio of straight cash sales.

These were facts on Appleton's 1938 Christmas shopping gleaned from conversations with merchants of the city yesterday. Some stores reported substantial gains over last year's trading, some slight losses. But merchants seemed generally satisfied with the season's record of transactions and cash and several expressed confidence over the results shown on their books.

One department store official, whose institution held about even with last year's trading, said he believed that there were more shoppers this year but that fewer large items were purchased compared with the 1937 season. "People were buying more small articles for use in the household," he said.

Furniture stores also reported that shopping crowds were plenty big, but pointed out that lower-priced pieces of merchandise dominated the trading.

"Best in Year"

One department store head termed this year's Christmas business "the best in several years," remarking that people "were interested in all types of merchandise and a bought readily."

The manager of a ladies' apparel shop, in answer to a query on Christmas business, stated a belief that "there was a trend to lower prices."

'Biograph Girl' Swallows Poison

Florence Lawrence, Actress, Was in Ill Health

Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP)—Florence Lawrence, 32, the original "biograph girl" of the early day screen, was listed a suicide in police records today.

Unable to regain her health, she said in a farewell note, she swallowed poison yesterday at her Westbourne drive home. She died a short time later.

"I'm tired," Miss Lawrence wrote. "I hope this works. They can't cure me, so let it go at that. Lovingly, Florence."

A postscript to Bob's studio workers, who, with his sister, shared the actress' home, said "You've all been swell guys. Everything is yours."

Dr. Lester Laurian, who was called in a vain attempt to save Miss Lawrence's life, disclosed he had been treating her for 18 months for a bone disease which produces anemia and depression.

It was in 1907, 31 years ago, that Miss Lawrence entered motion pictures. She had made her stage debut at the age of six as "Baby Flo, the child wonder."

At Carl Laemmle Sr.'s Pioneer Imp studio she starred in many celuloïd dramas, later working for him again at Universal.

For the last three years, Miss Lawrence had been a stock player at M-G-M studio.

When You Have Cold Troubles Do What 3 out of 5 Mothers Do

Here are 4 Proved Ways They Use to Relieve Discomforts of Colds

1 Head-Cold Sniffles and Misery. Melt a spoonful of Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water, then inhale the steaming vapors. These medicated vapors loosen phlegm, clear air-passages, make breathing easier. Then, at bedtime, massage throat and chest with VapoRub; leave bed-covering loose around neck so the medicated vapors, released by body heat, can be inhaled freely during the night. VapoRub's direct action brings comfort—relieves local congestion—helps you relax into restful sleep. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

2 Coughing or Sore Throat due to the cold. Use steam treatment outlined above. Also put a small lump of VapoRub on the tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication which brings comforting relief to the irritated membranes and checks tendency to cough.

3 Night Coughs due to colds—especially of children—can often be prevented by massaging VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime.

4 Chest Colds. Thoroughly massage VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warm cloth. VapoRub goes right to work—two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Direct on the irritated air-passages as its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath. This direct double action loosens phlegm—eases coughing—clears the air-passages—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion.

Children's Colds are always a problem to mothers. Neglect is dangerous, because it often paves the way for more serious trouble. But constant internal dosing is risky, too. It often upsets a delicate little stomach, lowers resistance just when it is most needed to overcome the cold and ward off complications. . . . It is for these reasons that most mothers depend on VapoRub to relieve the misery of their children's colds. With VapoRub there's no needless dosing, no risk of stomach upsets. It can be used freely, as often as needed, on even the youngest child.

Many Other Ways in which VapoRub can help you are described in the medicated-approved directions folder that comes in each VapoRub package.

ONLY VAPORUB GIVES YOU THIS DOUBLE PROOF:

Proved by Everyday Use in More Homes Than All Other Medications of Its Kind

VICKS VAPORUB

Jack Kimberly to Call ILYA Parley Early Next Month

Committees to Report on Various Phases of Racing

Neenah — The board of directors of the Inland Lakes Yachting association of which Jack Kimberly, Neenah, is commodore, will hold a regular meeting early in January at either Milwaukee or Chicago, according to the commodore.

Committees which were appointed by Kimberly to make studies of the various phases of sail boat racing will give their reports at the meeting. These matters were inaugurated at the forty-first annual meeting here last summer.

One of the matters which was discussed at the annual meeting was the lack of team racing experience by the association's crew in comparison with Barnegat Bay sailors for the annual intersectional E boat races. For the races next year, the board of directors will select a crew to represent the association in the intersectional races, it has been decided. The races next summer will be held in New Jersey. Charles Bell, Minneapolis, Minn., was chairman of that committee.

Clarify Rules

Two matters which will be brought up at the board meeting will be the reworking of the rules book in order to clarify all regulations particularly for Cubs and for consideration of changes in E boat regulations. A committee which has been appointed by Mr. Kimberly will have its report ready. The committee which was appointed to study boat start styles for racing also will report at the meeting.

Although Neenah is being considered as the place to hold the 1939 Cub class regatta, no announcement will come out of the January meeting for all invitational meets will be acted upon at the May meeting of the board.

Besides Kimberly, the board of directors is composed of Robert E. Friend, Pine Lake club, vice commodore; Ernest C. Schmidt, Lake Geneva, secretary and treasurer; Jules M. Hanneford III, White Bear club; Dr. Carl Harper, Mendota, and Walter Sprinkman, Cedar Lake.

Mrs. J. D. Schmerein Elected President of Ladies Society

Neenah—Mrs. J. D. Schmerein was named president of the Ladies Society of First Evangelical church Wednesday at a meeting of the group in the church. Mrs. Dan Howman was elected vice president, Mrs. Ervin Schult, secretary and Mrs. Arthur Schult, treasurer.

Plans for serving the luncheon at the New Year's eve party which the young people will sponsor preceding the service which begins at 11 o'clock, were completed.

About 175 children of ex-service men in Neenah were entertained at a Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at the American Legion and its Auxiliary held its annual holiday party for the children. A group of students of the Van Zealand studio presented several selections during the program. Miss Wanda Lisk sang and played and Miss Alice Jean Lisk presented a tap dance number. Dr. Truman Seiler, Neenah magician, delighted the children with magic tricks as a climax to the program. Santa Claus appeared with a pack of candies which were distributed to the guests.

Plans for installation at the Jan. 11 meeting were discussed at a short business session of the Neenah chapter Order of Eastern Star, Wednesday evening in the Masonic temple. Mrs. Henry Shoman, worthy matron, will name installing officers and committee members within a short time.

Seek Estimates on Building Changes

Neenah Council Favors Revised Plans if Cost Isn't Too High

Neenah—After studying the revised plans for the $140,000 swimming pool, recreation building and bathhouses, members of the city council at an informal meeting last night at the city hall decided to secure an estimate on the cost of the changes from the contractor, the Fluor Brothers Construction company, Oshkosh.

The changes in the plans provide for a larger lobby or recreation room, the first plans indicating a room 17 by 33 feet and the new plans calling for a room 32 by 51 feet. The revised plans also call for an increase of four feet in the rest rooms.

If the construction company agrees to do the job including the changes for no more than $140,000, the entire PWA grant of $63,000 will be utilized. The city having contributed $25,000 and two donors having donated $52,000 and the property. Permission has been secured from PWA to make the changes in the plans.

Removable Windows

The lobby will be equipped with removable windows so that in the summer it can be converted into an open air pavilion, making it a year around building. The social room, which will be 40 by 24, also will be used throughout the entire year.

The two rooms will be joined with swinging doors so that they can be converted into one large hall. The concession stand will be at the one end of the lobby and the kitchen will be at the other end of the social room.

Obtain Parking Limit Signs for Main Street

Menasha—Signs limiting parking to 90 minutes from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days have been obtained by the city of Menasha. The council several months ago passed an ordinance limiting parking during the daytime on Main street and forbidding all night parking. Signs were ordered but failed to arrive and at a recent meeting the council cancelled the first order and authorized Mayor W. H. Jensen to purchase the necessary signs. After the signs have been erected, the police department will enforce the ordinance.

E. Lachmann Outlines Fly Fishing History For Menasha Rotary

Menasha—The history of fly fishing was given by E. J. Lachmann, Neenah, at the weekly meeting of the Menasha Rotary club Wednesday noon at Hotel Menasha. The speaker pointed out that the art of fly fishing has been employed over 1,700 years and that it is increasing in popularity, particularly among men who fish for trout.

Not only does fly fishing increase the enjoyment of the anglers, but it also aids in propagation of game fish, the speakers declared. He pointed out that use of live bait results in the death of any fish that is hooked while in fly fishing the fish take the hook with their lips only and may be removed and returned to the water without any damage to the fish.

Mr. Lachmann exhibited a large number of the types of artificial flies adapted in America. The three main classes are wet and dry flies and the nymph, which is the latest creation. At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Lachmann tied a fly with materials obtained at the meeting as a demonstration of a type of lure easily prepared.

15-Year-Old Mother Arraigned on Three Other Counts

Greensburg, Pa. — (P)—Released on $1,000 bail, a 15-year-old girl-wife who said she "got the idea from reading detective stories" will be given a hearing in juvenile court Jan. 10 on charges of attempted extortion, breaking and entering, robbery and forgery.

Corporal Joseph J. Conwell of the state motor police, who filed the charges against Mrs. Lawrence Shirey, the small, thin wife of a West Bolivar, Pa., WPA worker, said the girl admitted they were true. Married two years ago in Cumberland, Md., she is the mother of a year-old child.

Conwell said the girl-wife was charged with sending three letters to Mrs. Guy Betz, principal of the West Bolivar school, demanding $2,500 under threat to burn the Betz home on the night of Dec. 14 and signing Mrs. Betz' name to checks.

Friends last night obtained Mrs. Shirey's release on bail. Officers said that had she been 16, the case would have been taken into criminal court.

Limburger Industry to Manufacture Only 3 Standard Sizes

Madison — (P)—The Wisconsin limburger cheese industry hereafter will manufacture only three standard sizes of cheese under a "gentlemen's agreement" to comply with requirements of New York state regulating package weights.

Six representatives of the industry, three dealers and three producers, approved the following pledges at the conference held at the capitol yesterday:

1. That the industry will only produce limburger cheese in eight ounce, 16 ounce, and 32 ounce packages.

2. That all such packages will be 8 ounces or more, 16 ounces or more, 32 ounces or more.

3. That the industry after each day's manufacture will eliminate all packages that do not meet standard qualifications set by New York.

New York recently issued an order, effective Jan. 1, requiring packages of limburger cheese to be marked with the net weight of the cheese and the weight of the wrapper. It was designed to eliminate sale of "chiseling" packages of 14 or less ounces as pound packages.

Forced with the loss of a major market unless compliance was assured, the Wisconsin committee instructed Ralph E. Ammon, director of the department of agriculture and markets, to advise New York officials that the Wisconsin industry would meet all requirements.

The committeemen, however, instructed Ammon to inquire whether New York would amend its regulations to give the Wisconsin industry sufficient time to dispose of cheese now on hand.

Ernest Suholter, Monroe cheese-maker, estimated that more than 1,000,000 pounds of limburger cheese was in storage.

Declare 'Bivalent Hydrogen' Really Makes Stamp Sticker

Providence, R. I.—(P)—Nature's "man on the flying trapeze" is really doing a good job for the postoffice department—but he's not on the payroll.

Two University of Illinois scientists today told the American Chemical society's symposium on intermolecular action that an ambidextrous chap known to chemists as "bivalent hydrogen" is really the smart one who makes a postage stamp stick to an envelope.

Professor W. H. Rodebush and A. M. Buswell described the hydrogen atom as "nature's universal cement" which swings back and forth with the greatest of ease, first attaching itself to an atom on the left and then an atom on the right in a substance.

During its workout, they explained, the atom sets up a "hydrogen bond" which is the basis of all sticky substances and which "plays a role of almost universal significance in the organic and biological world."

In its work for Uncle Sam—and tired office boys—the atom makes the postage stamps stick by setting up hydrogen bonds "between hydroxyl groups present in the gum and the cellulose of the paper."

BUILD THIS WINTER

It's Thrifty--It's Practical--- It's Good Judgement!

THIS business of building a moderately priced home has been sadly neglected during the past twelve or fifteen years. It is true that there have been many improvements in individual products and prices of equipment that go into the new home today. But, what about the methods of actually erecting that home? The same as they were ten years ago? Yes! for the most part except in the homes we are building. Why? Let us tell you.

Three years ago we started a study and research into home building methods. We found many things which we felt were neither fair nor right. Some of the more important were:

1. INSUFFICIENT PLANS, SPECIFICATIONS AND CONTRACTS

We found many cases where this resulted in work having to be torn out and changed, in controversies and arguments about responsibility, in "buck passing" and costly extras that the owner eventually had to pay.

We found that this trouble could be corrected by having a highly skilled man on our staff who could prepare detailed, complete and individually prepared plans and specifications for each of our jobs. We also found that we could furnish this service without cost to the home owner because of the savings effected through careful study prior to actual construction.

2. HIGH LABOR COSTS

We found that skilled workmen had to receive unusually high rates per hour because the work was so seasonal. On the average they received poor wages, if taken on an annual basis, because they only worked eight or possibly nine months out of each year. They wanted more work but there was none. By providing steady work for skilled men throughout the entire year we have found that our carpenters have received a higher annual wage and our customers have received skilled labor at a lower cost per hour. Surely no one can question a principle that provides a gain for all concerned.

3. MACHINE METHODS

We found that there were many operations performed by hand on the job that could be done better by machine in our shops. For example, to do a good job a carpenter must work at least 30 minutes to mortise a door for a lock set. We installed a high speed electric machine that does the same job more accurately in less than 2 minutes. We also found that by the use of power planes and routers we could do much more accurate work in the shop at only a portion of cost on many other operations.

4. OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

We found in the field of plumbing, heating and electric work that individual sub-contractors could not anticipate their material requirements and consequently were obliged to purchase as they needed supplies in small quantities. Because of our large volume of business it is possible for us to place orders for these materials so that items can be purchased in car load lots that heretofore were bought one at a time.

5. THE RESULTS

THE SAME HOUSE FOR LESS MONEY?

NO!

A MUCH BETTER HOUSE FOR THE SAME MONEY

Our policy has been to find ways of saving money in the construction of homes and to re-invest those savings in the improvement of that house. Cracked plaster used to be common. We have through the use of untold reinforcing made it almost a thing of the past.

Storm Sash and windows used to rot out in all too short a time. Now ours are specially treated to resist rot and decay.

Outside doors used to be great places to leak cold drafts. Now our jobs are weather-stripped in addition to combination doors.

Most builders have been forced to raise prices during this past year due to increased material and labor costs. Our company has been able through efficiency of methods and buying to hold costs at the old levels.

Many people are under the impression that new home construction can be carried on only during the warm months of the year. Our modern methods, however, have made winter house building practical and desirable. Not only that, we have made winter the economical time to build your new home.

We will be glad to discuss and help you with your home building problems. Don't wait until spring. Start your home now.

Care Must be Exercised in Doubling Slam

BY ELY CULBERTSON

There is perhaps no single bid from which a partnership can gain more, or lose more, than from a penalty double. I am not referring merely to the fact that the score is doubled. There is a far more important side to the matter. In countless hands contracts are fulfilled only by virtue of the information which the double has given the declarer. I have said time and again that close double of a slam bid is usually the height of folly. In the first place, the mathematics of the proposition are terrifically against the doubler. Presumably (if the opponents are any good) the contract will not be defeated more than one trick and, in this case, instead of collecting 100 points the doubler collects 200. If it is redoubled he stands to collect 400 instead of 100 (vulnerable), a gain of 300 points.

Now let us look at the other side of the picture. Suppose six spades is the contract and that it is redoubled and fulfilled. The doubler has lost the difference between the 720 point trick score he is giving the opponents and the 180 points they would have taken if he had kept quiet. Even this is not the greatest potential loss of a dead double. If it places cards for declarer's guidance that could not otherwise be located the loss is simply terrific.

With this philosophy as a background it is logical that a special significance should be attached to the double of a slam contract when, as, and if it is made by a good player. The partner of the doubler should realize that the opponents have either undertaken one of those rare slam contracts which can be defeated so many tricks that an ordinary penalty double is the correct action or (and this is much more likely) that the doubler hopes to tell his partner, who is on lead, that certain action is required to defeat the contract at all. Thus we come to the lead-directing double of a slam contract, which can be summed up as follows: When the player who is not on lead doubles a slam he expects the leader to open a suit that he would not otherwise have selected. Let us apply this to an actual hand.

The bidding:

Pass Double Redouble Pass
Pass Pass

Actually, North was so pleased that he had an ace about which his partner could know nothing that he laid it down and that was that! West ruffed, drew trumps, and collected thirteen tricks.

If South had not doubled the final contract North could not have been blamed for his lead. The double, however, changed matters radically. South had given an absolute command for an unusual lead to be made. Actually, since North had five diamonds, it should not have been difficult for him to read South's intention and hope. But when North had had fewer diamonds he should have been able to "follow orders" and open that suit. Admittedly North, with a short diamond suit and without the ace of hearts, might have felt that South's double called for a heart opening as the unusual lead. But the very presence of the heart ace in his hand guaranteed that South could not be hoping for such a lead. Hence his choice was distinctly narrowed to the one suit, diamonds. On a diamond opening, which South would have ruffed, the redoubled contract would have been defeated for a terrific "swing."

My Neighbor Says—

Cranberry jelly made in individual molds is more attractive than when served in a large mold.

The fat of meat is highly digestible and constitutes an important source of energy-producing nutrients in the diet. Fats and carbohydrates in the food are the main sources of fat heat and activity in the body. Fat stored in the body is the body's principal energy reserve.

A siphon of charged water is an excellent fire extinguisher, as the carbonic acid gas in the water helps to stifle the flames. The siphon can be tilted, and the fluid will carry to a considerable height such as the top of a blazing curtain.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

The chances are ten to one that you will celebrate the coming of the new year in one way or the other. American life has grown drippingly sentimental over the passing of the old year, possibly because of our eternal optimism that what lies ahead is better than what has gone. At any rate the New Year's Eve party has grown pretty important and everywhere girls and women are planning where they are going and what they will wear.

What you wear and where you go are incidental in comparison to how you feel and the company you are with. A few carefully selected friends can have a jolly time in your own home providing you have the vitality and vivaciousness to carry off the evening well. But woe to any party if you are dragging with fatigue and look anything but your best.

Then, too, do not make the mistake that you and your friends must get roaringly "cock-eyed" (as the phrase goes) to enjoy the coming of the New Year. Be gay, yes. Be carefree also, but hold tight to your equilibrium or your New Year will start with a black eye and possibly it will take a long time to heal.

"I don't mean literally that you will start the New Year with a black eye—naturally not. But you know the penalty of too careless actions and uncontrolled mind. Your dearest friendship can be easily ruined during a night of stupid hilarity, whereas your dearest friendship and other friendships can be cemented to you for life if you carry off the evening with nicely poised beauty."

Mainly I suppose, that today I am writing to younger girls and young matrons—cautioning them to realize that the beauty who remains a beauty through the celebration, quite naturally retains the admiration and respect of the entire party of friends and acquaintances. But what opinion can anyone have of the girl who forgets herself? The girl who places too small a value on decorous behavior and feminine loveliness?

So be off, my pets. Go through your detailed grooming not later than Friday and snitch a few hours of rest Saturday before the fun begins. Be your loveliest and dress your prettiest and have the time of your life. But remember you are a Beautiful Woman and all who admire you want you to remain beautiful on New Year's Eve and always.

My leaflet of suggestions for reducing the bust is available. If your bust line needs correcting, send for it, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Muriel is emotionally unbalanced and each succeeding escapade makes her more panicky. She refuses to face her problem. If she doesn't see a psychologist soon, she may take her own life as a means of avoiding the despair she'll encounter at 40.

CASE M-110: Muriel P., aged 29, is an attractive looking wife. "Muriel seems to have nothing but sexual escapades in mind," her husband's fraternity brother informed me one afternoon.

"She has no sense of humor at all. In the past year she has had affairs with eight of her husband's fraternity brothers at college.

"How many other men she has seduced or associated with at hotels and elsewhere, I have no idea. She feels below par as a woman. She is haunted by the fear that her sexual attractiveness is gone. So she flirts outrageously and indulges in promiscuous sexual relations simply to reassure herself. Some nymphomaniacs have other types of sexual inferiority complex. One girl had suffered a breast amputation, which led her to believe she no longer was a normal female, so she also went haywire in a rash attempt to inflate her feminine sexual vanity.

Some have disfiguring scars or are crippled to some slight degree. People who suffer from any stigma, minor though it be to the outside world, are inclined to over-magnify the seriousness of their defect.

So they often compensate to such an extreme degree as to become obvious. They may even appear emotionally unbalanced. Muriel belongs in that category. I cannot list all the evidences of her distorted view of life.

Idealism is Human

Animals seem to have little or no idealism regarding love, but mankind has been granted a brain by which to evolve chastity, monogamy and various other requisites for perfect love.

As soon as a man or woman begins to imitate the hog and tear all the sentiment and beauty, the honor and truthfulness, the unselfishness and idealism from their marital relations, that person not only acts swinish but begins to feel a desire to bring everybody else down to his own unhappy level.

He becomes a dog-in-the-manger. He's unhappy himself, and resents seeing others enjoy their beautiful home life. Muriel's husband is a good man. But his wife and eight of his sworn fraternity brothers have double-crossed him.

He hasn't been hurt so much as they have, however, for they are blinded to the most beautiful attribute of love—its idealism. They've sold out beauty for sensuality.

way of estimating, but she boasts about her knowledge of men.

"Dr. Crane, what is wrong with this girl? Is she what would be called a nymphomaniac?"

DIAGNOSIS:
The first question I asked this man was, "Is she sterile?"

In my wide professional experience I have met a number of women like Muriel, who can rightly be termed nymphomaniacs. These women have an apparently uncontrollable desire for sexual indulgence.

But in every case that has come to my office, I find their desire is a mental or psychological one. Nymphomaniacs, like most wives, obtain little specific and local stimulation from sexual relations. Their pleasure is chiefly an inflation of their feminine vanity. It flatters them to think they can attract men so easily. But why does Muriel need such excessive flattery?

The Cause Of Nymphomania
My first guess was correct. Muriel had been operated on a few years before and now is incapable of having any children. So she suffers from what Adler calls an organic inferiority complex.

She feels below par as a woman. She is haunted by the fear that her sexual attractiveness is gone. So she flirts outrageously and indulges in promiscuous sexual relations simply to reassure herself.

fers from what Adler calls an organic inferiority complex.

She feels below par as a woman. She is haunted by the fear that her sexual attractiveness is gone. So she flirts outrageously and indulges in promiscuous sexual relations simply to reassure herself.

Some nymphomaniacs have other types of sexual inferiority complex. One girl had suffered a breast amputation, which led her to believe she no longer was a normal female, so she also went haywire in a rash attempt to inflate her feminine sexual vanity.

Some have disfiguring scars or are crippled to some slight degree. People who suffer from any stigma, minor though it be to the outside world, are inclined to over-magnify the seriousness of their defect.

So they often compensate to such an extreme degree as to become obvious. They may even appear emotionally unbalanced. Muriel belongs in that category. I cannot list all the evidences of her distorted view of life.

Most Persons Would be Bored To Death if Mate Was Perfect

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—Can a husband be too good to his wife? I know one who started out to be a model and who almost broke his neck trying to live up to what he thought was the feminine ideal of the perfect husband. He kept up the love-making. He always noticed what his wife had on. He kept an anxious eye on the calendar for anniversaries and came through handsomely with gifts. He never failed to compliment his wife on her housekeeping. It was impossible to put up new curtains without his noticing it and hoping that she hadn't tired herself out on the job. But instead of this making a hit with his wife it seemed to get on her nerves, and one day she burst out with: "John, if I served you scorched steak with Paris green sauce you would say it was fine. Why can't you ever complain about anything? Don't you have any opinions? Don't you think I want to feel abused once in a while and have a good cry?" Well, the husband saw the light and he began to find fault and assume authority, and the wife was delighted and told me that he had improved and developed into a MERE MAN.

DOROTHY DIX

force of character. Can you beat it? Women! You figure them out, I can't.

Answer:
"And spring would be but dreary weather if we had nothing else than spring," sang the old poet. That applies to marriage as well as to climatic conditions. We have to have rain to make us appreciate the sunshine; storms to make us know how beautiful a clear day is.

All of us dream of the perfect husband and wife, but, fortunately, none of us get our hearts' desire. For we would be bored to death with it if we did. No man could stand living with Patient Griselda, who bowed her head meekly to all of her husband's orders and never answered back when he berated her for everything she did and did not do. Nor could any woman endure a husband who babied her and yes-yessed her and who gratified her every wish. It would be as nauseating as living on a diet of chocolate creams.

The trouble with being a good husband or a good wife is that it is so difficult to know what the party of the other part wants and when one is giving satisfaction. Every man, for instance, thinks that he wants his wife to be a cooing dove, and for her to be home-staying and domestic and a rubber stamp of himself. Yes let her be all that and he complains that she is dull and smells of the kitchen. He hunts up some livelier lady with a supply of wisecracks and new ideas that make him sit up and take notice.

It is the same way with a woman. She thinks she would like to be married to a man who will bill and coo over her and let her lead him around by the nose, and who will be a fireside companion. But if one gets one of these perfect-lover husbands who is a kissing bug, watch her turn the back of her ear to his lips. If she marries one she can boss, she has a contempt for him. If he is a stay-at-homeer she is always lamenting that he isn't a stepper-out.

Perhaps the truth is that both husbands and wives enjoy a grievance and don't want a mate in whom they can find nothing to complain about. Certainly a husband and wife never really love each other until they come to love each other's faults just because they are John's or Mary's little ways.

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I have a young son and he is determined to name him Philip, while I want to name him Roland after my father. Philip is not a family name with my husband, so I can't see why he is so set on it. He was divorced and some of our friends tell me that the name of Philip may have some association with his first marriage. If this is true, I wish my baby had never been born if he has to be called Philip. I love my husband, and every time I think of his first wife a cold shiver goes over me but I know he doesn't love her. In fact, he has forbidden me ever to mention her name to him. My greatest happiness is in pleasing my husband, but if this is true about the name of Philip I just don't see how I can give it to the baby. What is your advice?

HELEN.

Answer:
Name the baby to please your husband. You can name the next boy after your father. And, for heaven's sake quit borrowing trouble over nothing. For you haven't the faintest shred of evidence that the name Philip is connected in any way with your husband's previous marriage.

And another thing. Give up the so-called friends who are trying to sow the seeds of suspicion in your mind about your husband. They are not your friends. They are your enemies, who bode you no good, as the old-fashioned melodramas used to say. The sooner you break off all relations with them the better for you.

Many people have a fancy for some one particular name, so there is nothing to be alarmed over in your husband liking the name of Philip. I, myself, think it is a very pretty name and a sensible one and one he will not be ashamed to be called in after life. That is the main thing to be considered in naming a baby, not to give it some name that will sound ridiculous when he is a grown man.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am married to a man who is fine in every way. He is kind and good and a good provider and we love each other, but we are continually quarreling. One minute we are happy, the next minute we are at each other's throats. What is the matter with us? And how can we stop it?

DISHEARTENED WIFE.

Answer:
The only way you can reform any bad habit is just to stop it. Quit it. Use some self-control. When you find yourself getting irritated at something your husband does or says get up and go out of the room until you have quieted down. Shut your teeth on the bitter word that will provoke a still bitterer one from him. Avoid the subjects that you know will be the fighting words to him. The time to stop a quarrel is before it gets going good.

'I Don't Know' Is Best Answer To Question in Foreign Field

BY ANGELO PATRI

There is a blessed relief in the thought that one does not have to have an opinion about everything under the sun, that one does not have to be all-wise and know the answers to every question that rises. It is grand to feel that one can say, without feeling at all abashed by his ignorance which is truly abysmal at any time, "I really do not know."

Parents, and especially all teachers, are likely to be possessed by the idea that they must be able to answer every question asked them accurately, wisely and with authority. How impossible that is will appear the instant one considers the Universe and its mysteries, the complications of human existence, the numberless phases, happenings, implications in just one day of living. How could anyone hope to understand much less know?

There are a few things most teachers know. We can spell some, read well, understand a little, a very little about the scientific wonders presented to us, and we have a brief and limited experience with life. What little we know we can pass on to the children, but, best of all, we can pass on to them the thrill of an inquiring questioning mind, alive and alert amidst the wonders and the mysteries that surround them. We can say, "This little we believe to be so. So far has Man come in his search for wisdom. You too, are a searcher. Good luck attend you."

Posing as wise men, knowing all about anything is futile. The world soon detects our ignorance, is in fact accustomed to it, and the children who question us soon exhaust our knowledge and reach the quality of our minds. If that quality is one of sincerity, good faith, honest doubt and inspiring hope, the children are steadied and encouraged by it. But if it is one of pretence they are discouraged and saddened and sent away empty.

A good deal of nonsense these days is expressed in opinions. Everybody, anybody, is expected to have an opinion about anything in the world. People who are experts in one field, maybe good aviators, are gravely asked their opinion on the social conditions in Spain, a land that they have never seen, much less known well. Scholars are asked their opinions on dance music, and chorus girls are invited to be eloquent on the subject of Art in the Orient. And faithfully, each tries to answer.

There was a great deal of wisdom in the words of the artist who told the shoemaker to stick to his last and leave Art to him. One knew shoes and the other, Art. If each

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

MOTHER'S PARTY
Dear Mrs. Post: I am giving a very large bridge party in the evening and would like some of these friends who are coming to see my daughter, who is now fourteen.

Answer: They would arrange between them upon a convenient time, and discuss it. In other words, if he were taking her to a ball game, he would say, "The game is called at two o'clock—it will take us about twenty minutes to get there, and so I think I'd better come for you at half past one, don't you?" And then she'd say, "Yes, I'll be ready." Or, under other circumstances, he'd ask her what time she'd like to go for a walk or for something else that was rather indefinite. It is always proper that one (never mind which one) ask the other, "What time shall we go?" There are other occasions when she'd probably say, "I have to study until three o'clock," or he might say, "I can't get away until such and such a time—will it be all right if I come then?" This is actually a discussion rather than anything else.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

THE CHARTERS
Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.
Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.
Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.
Yesterday: Charlie's gun is taken from my suitcase.

Chapter 32
JUST A CHANCE
OOK, Adam. I've been thinking about that notebook and the two attacks on Barney and the possibility that the shot that killed Anne might have been intended for him. And the repeated theme of—the family skeleton in what he wrote about everyone. And I can see only one explanation that fits it all—and that's blackmail.

In silence Adam digested that unpalatable word. Then he shook his head.

"A blackmailer is a peculiarly nasty vermin. I won't believe it of a brother officer. I have my own curiosity about people, but I don't trade on it. I prefer to think Barney is that way."

"Then why the notebook?" I asked. "And what was he doing with it tonight?"

"What do Elizabeth and Annie know about Anne that they aren't telling?" he countered. "And what was that poor devil of a sentry trying to tell me? And what about those stenes?"

His voice trailed off and he stared straight through me, his eyes the unearthly, dazzling blue of the sparks thrown off by an acetylene torch.

"What is it?" I cried, my pulses beginning to pound.

He shook his head as if I were a buzzing fly.

"I've got to think," he muttered. "I let him think. Presently he seized the brown notebook, leafed through it, found something and grew more excited as he read. He leaped to his feet and raced around the small room while I watched him in painful suspense."

"But how can I prove it?" he demanded of me suddenly, but when I snatched at the chance to ply him with questions his only answer was a vacant stare.

"I'm only trying to help you," I cried at last in exasperation.

"Oh, yes, yes! Thank you very much."

He was the son of content, but he was gone from me. I retired into a sulky silence and tried to figure it out for myself.

I was getting exactly nowhere when the telephone rang. It startled Adam out of his somnambulism, but he was so long coming back to reality that it rang a second time before he remembered to answer it.

"Yes. . . . Yes. . . . A long pause. "Are you sure that's all she said? All right, doc, I'll be right over."

He listened a moment longer, cradled the instrument carefully. "Is there an extension telephone in this house?"

I nodded.

"Where?"

"Upstairs hall. Not far from my room. Why?"

"Someone was listening in on that conversation. I heard the click. . . ."

"Touch and Go"

He released the telephone again, quietly, and asked for the Officers' Club.

"Charlie? Adam speaking. Is Barney asleep? . . . You're sure he's all right then? . . . Very well. I want you two to meet me at the hospital in ten minutes. . . . I don't care whose car you take, but your orders are the same as before—you're to stay with Barney every minute. I don't want any more of these mysterious attacks. I'm holding you personally responsible for him. . . . Ten minutes then."

He put the instrument back, shoved it away from him.

"What has happened?"

"Anne is conscious, asking for Barney. Want to come along?"

"Yes! You think she may tell him something?"

Adam shrugged. "She may be delirious—she may lapse and never come out of it. It's touch and go. Doc says they have her in an oxygen tent."

He motioned me to silence, and together we tiptoed out into the hall.

The upper landing was lighted and Elizabeth was standing there, fully dressed, gazing down at us.

"It's Anne," she said accusingly. "Why wasn't I told?"

Adam said, "Sorry, explain later."

"Annie and I are coming," she stated and was answered by a wall from the shadows.

"Me too!" said Lou Orpington's voice. "Wait for me!"

To Get the Best Cough Remedy, Mix It at Home

Real Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because it makes such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs that start from colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

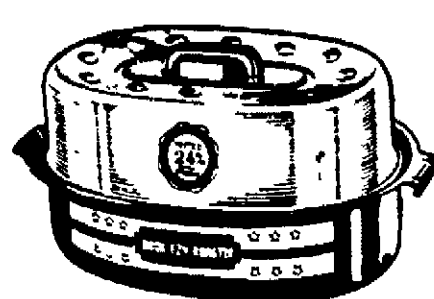

From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable gualacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex in a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough remedy, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, gives you relief, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

West Bays Lose To New London

Stacymen Play Best Game in Defeating Wildcats, 27-23

NEW LONDON—A confident and smooth working New London five tamed the Green Bay West Wildcats by a 27 to 23 score in a non-league basketball game at Washington High school gym last night.

The game was the fourth straight victory for the Stacymen, two of which were conference tilts, since they lost to Shawano. Tomorrow night they will travel to Oshkosh to tackle another leader in the Fox Valley circuit. The next league game is scheduled at Kaukauna Jan. 6.

Playing probably their best game this season, the Red and White led the invaders all the way. Douglas "Spook" Hoier tallied seven of New London's ten baskets. Burch, high scorer in the Valley conference, was held to three buckets. The Wildcats played an indifferent game and appeared to fare the worse on their shots but statistics showed both squads tried 33 during the game. West making 9 and New London 10. The locals shot more during the first half but hit the hoop with greater accuracy during the second period.

Lead By 6 to 1

The Stacymen put up an excellent man to man defense and foiled many tricky switch-back plays of the invaders. Again lacking control of the tip-off, they worked better under the basket on rebounds, following in and intercepting with Gordon Melkjohn starting.

The locals ran up a 6 to 1 lead during the first seven minutes. Wally Hammerberg and Brault converted on fouls and Hoier sinking two buckets while the Wildcats were held to a gift shot. Hoier's were both long shots, one from the corner and the other a high loop from the side. With less than a minute of the quarter left, Muster dropped two charity shots and Howland pushed one in from under the hoop to make the score 6 to 5 for New London.

Only two buckets were counted during a cautious second period. Hoier was left free to swish a medium shot as the stanza opened and Stewie Hammerberg potted a gift shot to add three points. Burch pushed in his first bucket near the end to close the half at 9-7.

Face Quickens

The pace quickened and scoring piled up in the third quarter, each side getting 11 points. Brault started by hooking a left handed shot and Hoier took the offensive and dribbled the length of the floor to set in another. Nelson, regular Bay center, entered the game and pushed in a bucket. He added another point on a foul off Melkjohn who retaliated with a goal. Burch tallied and Hoier cased two more long ones before the visitors got away to make up three more. Brault sank the locals' free throw to end the period 20 to 18 for New London.

Free throws counted heavily in the last stanza, the Stacymen making three out of seven and the visitors one out of six. Hoier and Melkjohn tallied New London's two baskets while Edwards, Bay guard, tried a series of long shots and made good on two. Of 14 free shots during the game, New London made half while Green Bay made five out of thirteen.

The New London B squad split up for the preliminary game and the Reds beat the Whites, 11 to 9. Jack Dent cased the winning bucket for the Reds during the last minute of play.

A small crowd witnessed the game.

INDIANS VERSUS EAST

Shawano—The Shawano Indians, defenders of an undefeated record of five straight wins, are expected to have a task on their hands here tonight when the vengeance-seeking Red Devils of East Green Bay invade the local court.

The Dilts-coached Indians raised the curtains on the season a few weeks ago with a 25-21 win over the larger school, with Billy Reed, Shawano's high-scoring sophomore star, counting seven field goals and a pair of free throws. Coach George Berg's East High team is determined that Reed and his supporting cast can't do it again, and sports history is on the side of the invaders. Last year, after an initial win over the Bay, the Maroon and Black warriors lost a bang-up game here by one point, breaking even with the Red Devils for the season. The game will be followed by another here in only five days, with Coach Calder's Menasha Bluejays due here Tuesday night, to resume conference play.

Cincinnati—Young Wills, 173, Cincinnati, knocked out Major Battles, 176, Erie, Pa., (7).

Coaches Suggest Several Changes In Football Rules

Penalty for Pass Striking Ineligible Receiver Considered Severe

CHICAGO—(AP)—Satisfied that football, rules and all, had enough "kick" for another season, the nation's football coaches passed up major changes and turned today to movies and lectures on the game.

Augmenting the second day of the American Football Coaches association's 18th meeting was a joint session with the National Collegiate Athletic association.

While giving the grid code general endorsement yesterday, the association's rule committee made six recommendations to the NCAA rules body, which will meet next Monday at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Another proposal was made to its own group.

Recommendations to the NCAA were:

- 1—When a forward pass strikes an ineligible player on or behind the line of scrimmage, the penalty be loss of down and 15 yards from the point of the previous down. (Coaches felt loss of the ball at point of previous down too severe and believed change would permit more shovel passes.)

- 2—On a forward pass play all ineligible men must remain on the line of scrimmage until pass is touched or incomplete. Penalty would be 15 yards from spot of preceding down.

- 3—Greater enforcement of penalties against intentional grounding of forward passes. "The fact a defensive player is near the point where a pass is grounded should not be taken as prima facie evidence the pass was not intentionally grounded."

- 4—A punted ball touched or grounded by the kicking team and longer be considered a foul. Under present rules on the same play by opposing teams offset each other and do not permit a kicking team, for instance, to decline a penalty to take advantage of a good punt should it ground the ball and the opposition also foul.

- 5—Penalty giving receiving team ball at spot of foul committed by kicking team while ball is in the air is too severe. A study was requested.

- 6—Careful study of equipment to reduce injuries reported due sometimes to certain types of cleats or types of protective pads.

The proposal made to its own group was the request to experiment with a change which would permit the team scored upon the same option as that preceding the game—the choice of kicking, receiving or choosing a goal to defend. The proposal was designed to equalize play on exceptionally windy days.

During the session Dr. Clarence Spears, Toledo University coach, said he intended to install lights and play Monday night games to overcome competition from Michigan, Ohio State and Notre Dame, whose major games draw heavily from Toledo.

Baker Depending On Righthanders

Banking Heavily on Hutchinson Being Able To Take His Turn

Seattle—(AP)—Del Baker is staking all his diamond chips on three righthanders—a $50,000 rookie, a grownup schoolboy on the comeback trail and a frail but dependable money hurler—to pitch his Detroit Tigers into the pitching in the American league this year.

Freddie Hutchinson, Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges are the blue chips. Baker, Detroit manager, admitted while here this week to sign Hutchinson to a Detroit contract.

"We're banking heavily on Hutchinson in our pitching plans for 1939, and from what I have seen of the boy, he impresses me as being determined to go places in the fastest baseball there is," Baker said.

"Smart baseball men have told me Hutch is the best prospect to come out of the west since Joe Di Maggio."

Hutchinson won 25 and lost 7 for Seattle in the Pacific Coast league last year. He hit .313. It was his first year of professional ball, the husky 200-pound pitcher coming straight from Seattle High school and Yakima semi-pro ranks.

Neither Baker nor Hutchinson would disclose the figures in Hutch's contract, but the young pitcher said terms were "highly satisfactory." Detroit bought him for $50,000 and four players.

Al Simmons Sold by Nats to Boston Bees

Boston—(AP)—The Boston Bees announced today the purchase of the veteran, hard-hitting outfielder Al Simmons of the Washington Senators. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Playing in 125 games last season Simmons was a .300 hitter, registered 21 two baggers, six triples and 21 home runs. He was credited with batting in 92 runs.

PROUD MOTHERS KISS FETED SONS

Big Ten Basketball Goes Sky High After Garden Wins

BY DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Is this the old malarkey or is Dan Hill, Duke's center and co-captain, really hurt? If he is, Southern Cal's chances are that much better in the Rose Bowl for Dan can play a lot of center against any man's ball team.

Tommy Farr who trained for every other American fight in the healthy and expensive air of Pompton Lakes, N. J., is training for his meeting with Red Burman at Stillman's gym which is as snooty as the stockyards and as private as a park bench.

Minnesota and Illinois boosted Big Ten basketball stock sky high in the Garden the other night by whipping New York U. and Manhattan . . . The Yankees have three prospects—in addition to outfielder Tom Henrich—for Lou Gehrig's first base post, when and if the great man knocks off . . . One is Eddie Levy who is to play first at Newark, another is Johnny Sturm coming to Kansas City to replace Harry Davis, who is on the market, and the third is Fred Collins, a converted left handed pitcher who aims to win back his position as one of America's great smilers this winter, is getting plenty of help from his six-months old daughter Amelia . . . She hits the hay at 7 p. m. and plays shuteye till 6 a. m. which gives pop plenty of rest, too.

Latest story of Zeke Bonura, the Giants' new first baseman, is that Zeke, after a tryout with Cleveland, wanted to take some presents home for his kid brother . . . Lefty Weisman, the Indians' trainer, suggested balloons . . . "How'm I gonna get 'em in a suitcase?" inquired Zeke? . . . "They won't fit."

The Cincinnati Reds, who fostered night baseball in the majors, will make no effort to increase their quota of night games . . . On the theory under which restaurants recommend their patrons do not eat too much grub, as the results aren't as satisfactory as when the delectables are taken in the proper quantities.

Osmanski of East May

Be Out of Shrine Game

San Francisco—(AP)—Coaches of the East Shrine football squad waited today for X-rays to tell whether hard-hitting Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross fullback, would be in trim for Monday's charity game against picked westerners here.

After virtually shunning scrimmage for a week, Co-coaches Bernie Bierman and Andy Kerr of Colgate yesterday pitted their lads against a sandlot outfit, the Oakland Cardinals.

Result was a shoulder injury for Osmanski, of undetermined seriousness. The coaches replaced him with Howie Weiss of Wisconsin, and sent Osmanski to a hospital.

Down at Palo Alto the West squad ran into a tough scrimmage with an odd lot of ex-Stanford players plus Bill Higgins, Oregon State back.

Seeded Players Win

Indoor Net Matches

New York—(AP)—With form prevailing as 11 of the original 12 seeded players paraded into today's fourth round of the national junior indoor tennis championships, Joe Fishbach and Seymour Greenberg remained foremost among the favorites.

Fishbach, captain of the St. John's University netmen and defending champion, advanced through yesterday's barrage without trouble in the other bracket, Greenberg of Northwestern University, seeded No. 2, won handily.

Drop Program for Basketball Game

Can't Get Speaker for Be- tween Halves of Wau- sau - Terror Tilt

Plans for a program between halves of the Appleton-Wausau basketball here Friday night have been abandoned, according to high school authorities, for failure to secure a well known basketball coach or someone connected with the sport, as a speaker. The program was to have marked formal dedication of the gymnasium.

Appleton cagers resumed practice yesterday afternoon with the return of Coach Joseph Shields, from LaCrosse. After a short drill the Terrors were sent through scrimmage against an alumni team.

In Friday's preliminary game, Appleton reserves will tangle with Kimberly's first squad. Kimberly is leading the Western division of the Little Nine conference and last year won the district Class C title.

The Papermakers have practically the same team this season.

The first ten Lawrence college cagers resumed practices this afternoon at Alexander gymnasium. They are scheduled for two workouts on Friday and two more on Saturday.

After looking over the group this afternoon, Coach Art Denney was to decide whether he'd scrimmage the squad against several strong amateur teams in Appleton tomorrow and Saturday.

Lawrence clashes with Carroll here on Jan. 4 and with Coe here Jan 7 in a Midwest conference game.

Hockey Team Forced

To Postpone 2 Games

Because the Jones park hockey rink is not in condition, Appleton hockey team has postponed games with Green Bay, scheduled for last Tuesday, and tonight's game with Fond du Lac. Both are Fox River Valley Hockey league games.

Last Sunday the Streaks played an exhibition game at Oshkosh and dropped a 7 to 2 decision. Play in the first quarter was even but after that lack of condition told on the Appleton skaters and they wilted. Oshkosh will play here Sunday, weather permitting.

Manager Al Babino of the Appleton team has received word that a Fond du Lac junior team is looking for games with Appleton juniors. Arrangements can be completed by getting in touch with Babino.

Los Angeles Gridders

Is Signed by Detroit

Detroit—(AP)—Gordon Gore, 218-pound halfback for the Los Angeles Bulldogs, signed a contract yesterday to play with the Detroit Lions next season.

Gore, one of the outstanding backs of the Bulldogs squad, was coached by Elmer C. (Gus) Henderson, who succeeded Earl (Dutch) Clark as coach of the Lions yesterday.

The Lions office indicated that Gore was the first of several Bulldog players who would follow their coach to Detroit.

Duke's Offensive Plans Worrying Trojan Coaches

Guess Is Passes, How- ever; Tipton's Heaving Isn't So Good

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—The unknown quantity in the Rose Bowl football equation is Duke's offensive plans for Southern California Jan. 2.

But a good guess, based on Coach Wallace Wade's record, is, "passes."

Copious copy has been written about the defensive ability of the unscoured-upon Blue Devils. Much has been mentioned about the stingy defensive attitude of Coach Howard Jones' U. S. C. team.

And the word has been banded around freely by Troy's supporters how with speed, power and deception they will do this and that with running plays and passes.

Strangely, none has had much to say about Duke scoring.

Naturally the Duke contingent hasn't brought up the subject, except to bemoan the fact George McAfee, fastest man on the squad has been handicapped by a foot injury and still isn't in good shape.

Ernie Tipton, whose punting prowess is legend, is supposed to be the best pass thrower Duke has. Tipton's throwing during the open practice sessions here was far from sensational and this could have been by design. For Duke completed 29 of its 44 attempts during the regular season and had only four of the others intercepted.

Sverre Fredheim, St. Paul, to Show on New London Slide

NEW LONDON—That an exceptional field of ski riders will compete at the fifth annual tournament of the New London Ski club at Mosquito hill Monday afternoon was indicated by the entry yesterday of Sverre Fredheim of the St. Paul Ski club, champion of the Central United States Ski association in '36 and a member of the American Olympic skiing team in that year.

Fredheim's entry brings the Class A field to nine experts. More than 20 other entries were received yesterday, bringing the total to 63 with still three days left for registering.

To encourage jumpers to a new hill record, the New London club has announced the award of an outboard motor or $50 in cash to the rider making the longest standing jump of the day. The present hill record is 153 feet set by Ted Zoberisk last year but with the new improvements in the hill a new record approaching 200 feet is expected. Distances accomplished will depend much on weather conditions.

In past meets Class B riders have offered as thrilling jumps as Class A and up to yesterday about 35 outstanding Class B entries had been received. Winners of last year's meet re-appearing will be Tony Osterman of the Gogebic Range club, who took first place; and Leonard Soler, St. Paul, second place rider. Entries of Class C riders are less this year but the caliber of the performers is higher.

The usual stunt and exhibition rides will entertain besides the regular competition. An improved public address system has been secured to announce the results of each jump and the final placings of the meet as soon as it is over.

Fox Rivers increased their league lead when they hung up a 3-game victory against Appleton Machines. Fred Schreiber pounded a 579 triple with a 331 game, Bauman sized 236, Barta thumped 214 and E. Wegner stroved for the winners. High for the losers was Wayne Bowman with a 482 total.

Wadhams Oils stayed in a tie for second place with a 2-game win over Schlafers Supply Company. Joe Reynebeau whacked a 235 game and 552 triple for the victors while Darcy McGee scried 140 for the losers.

Powers Lose Two
Johnson Shoe Rebuilders won the odd game from Power Company as Orville Strutz tripled 606 on games of 213 and 203. D. Strutz slammed 202 and 219. Lesselyong tallied 213. The Power Company crew took place when two men showed up for the Post-Crescent team and Atlas Printers registered a 3-game triumph. The Power keggers suggested that maybe the team had disbanded because of a forthcoming grudge match but a better explanation is that the newspaper boys are resting up for the encounter. Al's Bar won two games from Tuttle Press as Charles Schmidt hit 464. Jack Furnal topped the losing quint with a 528 series.

Two games were credited to Montgomery Ward in a tilt with Coated Papers. Joe Herman sparked the victors with games of 206 and 202 for a 595 series. Lloyd Schroeder led the losers with a 552 total.

Joe Carr Envisions Farms For Pro Football Circuit

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, OHIO.—(AP)—A professional football team in every baseball park in the country.

That's the ultimate goal of a program mapped today by Joe Carr, veteran founder and president of the National Football League, and promotional director of the minor baseball leagues.

"We have 27 minor baseball leagues—we'll have about 40 in 1939—which condition young and experienced players for the majors," Carr said. "There's no reason why we shouldn't have the same for football, with the players winning their way up the ladder to berths on the National League clubs."

The big loop prexy said that three minor leagues, each with a working agreement with the National League, functioned during 1933, and that negotiations were under way for three more next season.

Carr said he had talked over the idea with the president of the Southern association, club owners of the Texas league, and "interested parties" in the Pacific northwest around Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. and that he believed action would be taken before fall to place grid loops in those sectors.

"We had more than 50 players farmed out in 1933 from the National League clubs," Carr said, "and probably that number will rise next season. There's a possibility that baseball men won't care to take over the handling of football teams in some of the cities, but we'll find other sponsors if they don't."

"With new leagues spreading over the country, a place can be found for every college graduate who wants to play football. Many of the good boys overlooked on the chance in the minors, prove their worth, and work their way up. Such a system, with an agreement between the majors and minors, would help professional football and the players in many ways."

If Terry's Luck Doesn't Hold Giants May Land in 5th Place

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK.—(AP)—Many uncomplimentary things have been said and written about Boss Bill Terry of the Giants in the last few seasons, but from here on no man will ever accuse Bill of not being a gambler. At least, it will have to be admitted Terry is willing to play them high, wide and handsome as long as another supplies the blue chips.

Horace Stoneham, youthful president of the Giants, is buying the chips, and he has a good reason to believe in Terry's judgment. Still, after looking over the list of 30 players who have been mailed 1939 contracts by the Giants, here's one bet Stoneham is more uneasy than he looks.

If Terry has guessed wrong, and unless he gets more breaks than the law allows, the Giants are likely as not to tumble as far down as fifth place in the next National League race. They have absolutely no margin of safety.

First, Terry is staking the works on the recovery of his two key pitchers, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, from operations on their salary arms last fall. There is no guarantee either will be back with anything like his former ability.

That may leave Terry with one topnotch starting pitcher, Cliff Melton, and Cliff was no ball of fire last year.

Next, Terry is looking to Burgess Whitehead to return after a year's convalescence from an operation and play second base like he used to. Maybe he will, but many baseball men doubt it. If he doesn't, Alex Kampouris will have to take over the job, and Alex couldn't satisfy Terry last year.

Bonura Biggest Gamble
The biggest gamble of all is on Zeke Bonura's ability to play first base acceptably. The Giants got the big New Orleans boy from Washington after he had been waived out of the American league.

Terry is counting upon Bonura to drive in a wagon load of runs, which he doubtless will, but men who have been playing with and against him vow that Zeke will let in an equal number of runs on balls that go whizzing past him.

In his three cornered deal with the Cubs, Terry got Frank Demaree to play center field, gambling that the Californian will fix his legs back in shape and shake off the slump that gripped him all last season. To get him, Terry had to turn loose Hank Leiber, who for years has been the very apple of President Stoneham's eye. There will be some strained relations next summer if Demaree should flop and Leiber begin pounding the ball like he did in 1933.

At third base Terry is putting his trust in George Myatt, who is a great base runner, but can't hit a lick and has difficulty throwing as far as first base. With Bonura on first, this latter failing will be pretty serious.

Outside of all that, Terry really won't have a time to worry about. He has four mighty good men in Catcher Harry Danning, Shortstop Bill Jurgens and Outfielders Mel Ott and Joe Moore.

All Stars in Bid For League Lead

Win Over Indianapolis Will Give Oshkosh Cagers 1st Place

Oshkosh—An opportunity for the Oshkosh All Stars to go into first place in the Western division of the National Basketball league presents itself providing the All Stars can win a circuit tilt here Thursday evening with the Indianapolis team, Kautskys.

Oshkosh moved up into a tie with the Sheboygan Redskins by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates last Friday, but Sheboygan again took the lead on Christmas day with a win over the Pirates. Indianapolis will play at Sheboygan, Wednesday evening, before coming here.

But regardless of the outcome of that game, if Oshkosh wins it will take first because of a better percentage due to the fact that it has played fewer league games to date. A victory for the All Stars will give them three wins and two losses for .600, while Sheboygan can achieve only .583 by winning from Kautsky's, which would give them seven wins in 12 starts.

To Go On Road
Oshkosh, with less games played than other teams in the league, will begin its loop schedule on the road in January, by which time it should have ironed out all its difficulties and make a determined bid to repeat as Western division champions.

When Indianapolis comes here Thursday it will have two of Purdue's all-time "Greats" in Jewell Young and John Wodeno. Young holds the Big Ten all-time high scoring record with 185 points in one year. He was rated all-American, all-conference and all-state while at Purdue. Wodeno is also an all-American selection and was acquired by Indianapolis from Hammond in a trade that sent Bob Kessler to Hammond.

Mini, Gophers To Play in East

Former Meets Villanova, Latter Battles Temple At Philadelphia

Chicago.—(AP)—Minnesota and Illinois risk undefeated records tonight and Chicago its three year reign over a city rival, Loyola, as Big Ten basketball teams near the end of pre-conference campaigns. The league race will open next week.

"Ohio State's touring buckeyes meet university of California (L. A.) tonight and California for a second time tomorrow night. California won the initial engagement Tuesday, 49 to 35, accounting for the Buckeyes' third defeat on the Pacific coast.

Illinois and Minnesota, campaigning in the east, meet Villanova and Temple, respectively. The Illini have won four in a row and Minnesota six. Both games will be at Philadelphia.

Ohio State also will be in action tomorrow along with two other undefeated conference members, Michigan and Indiana. The Buckeyes will take on U. C. L. A. The Wolverines and Hoosiers, each bidding for their sixth consecutive victory, will oppose Butler and Western reserve, respectively.

Purdue ran the Big Ten's record against non-conference foes to 39 won and 14 lost last night by defeating Arkansas 57 to 51 in New Orleans' fourth annual Sugar Bowl basketball game. Three successive goals in the last two minutes clinched victory for the Boilermakers after Arkansas had cut the Purdue margin to 51-49. Sophomore Bob Inney led the Purdue attack with 18 points.

Packers Will Add More Seats to City Stadium

Green Bay.—Green Bay Packers officials today envisioned record attendance at home games next fall, with the municipal board of education's ratification last night of the building of 2,687 additional seats to the stadium. At present, the city-owned grid plant accommodates nearly 24,000.

The Packers management furnished $6,604 toward the stadium program, including also enlargement of press and radio boxes, stone fronts, sodding of the field and office improvements. The new seats would be divided between the north and west sides of the field.

The projects will necessitate small WPA grants, it was said. If they are not forthcoming, the program will have to be cut down. Six thousand seats were added last season.

FENSEKE DECLINES BID
Madison.—(AP)—Charles (Chuck) Fenske, Wisconsin slugger, said today he has been forced to decline an invitation to the Sugar Bowl mile race at New Orleans, Jan. 2, because of a bad cold and a lame back.

Fenske has been ailing for several weeks and after consultation with his coach, Tom Jones, he decided not to enter the distance run.

The saxophone is named for Adolphe Sax, its inventor.

G. Acker, carrying a 38-pin handicap, paced Western league bowlers with a 257 single and 630 triple during matches at Elks alleys last night. Stanford collected high team marks of 977 and 2734.

Stanford remained in a tie for first place as the quint downed Montana in three games. J. Ellenbecker spearheaded the attack with games of 206 and 215 for a 618 series while A. Scheurle showed 205 and H. Schaefer totaled 603 on games of 202 and 206. High for the losers was Howden with a 222 game and 558 series.

Washington downed Santa Clara in two games as Lehman rattled a 212 game and 598 series. M. Herner thumped a 200 game and 593 triple for the losers.

Acker cut loose with his high game and a 317 single for his big 630 count as Idaho picked up two games from Gonzaga. Wenzel scored a 202 game and 587 series and Clough grooved 216 for the losing five.

Sheboygan Pro Cagers Trip Kautskys, 45-42
Sheboygan.—(AP)—The Sheboygan Redskins, stemming a last minute scoring threat, defeated the Indianapolis Kautskys by a 45 to 42 margin in a National Professional Basketball league contest here last night.

The Redskins established a 22 to 17 margin at the half, and maintained their slim lead except for a brief period in the final quarter when Indianapolis went out in front.

Lautenschlager paced the winners with six field goals and two free throws.

Town of Brillion Tax Rate Set at $12.74 Per $1,000

Total Increase of Nearly $2,447 in Amount To be Raised

Forest Junction.—An aggregate tax roll of $27,732.80 carrying an average rate of $12.74 per $1,000 of valuation will be collected in the town of Brillion, according to the 1938 figures now in the office of E. A. Rusch, town treasurer. The aggregate amount of taxes in the last previous roll was $25,285.81 on an average rate of $11.70 per $1,000 of valuation.

An increase of approximately $20 over last year's figure is contained in the state tax apportionment of $475.82. A town tax of $8,773.31, which includes an increased high school tuition and a special levy for a new tractor and snowplow, is $2,131.84 higher than in 1937. Aggregate school district taxes in the five whole districts and parts of five joint districts in the township, an amount of $3,406.27, is $1,141.90 higher than the figure for the same purpose in the last previous year.

An appreciable reduction occurs in the county tax apportionment of $14,996.32, which is $993.22 lower than in 1937. While in the county tax figure state charitable and penal charges are higher, the amounts for county school tax and county purposes are lower than a year ago. Reductions also occur in the amounts of occupational taxes, both on grain in elevators and on colonies of bees in the township.

The 1938 assessed valuation of the township of $2,176,070 is approximately $15,000 higher than a year ago. Though personal property valuations show a reduction of around $8,000, real estate values have climbed more than $20,000. School District 4 shows a lower valuation than in 1937; Joint District 2 of the town of Brillion and Brillion village is the same as in 1937; all the other district valuations are higher.

Tax collections in the office of the town treasurer will begin after Jan. 1 and will continue without penalty to March 1, according to action taken by the town board last week.

The WORLD of STAMPS

BY THE AP FEATURE SERVICE
When the 30-cent Theodore Roosevelt and 50-cent Taft "Presidential" appeared December 8, they wound up the 32-stamp series which began May 19 with the issuance of the 1-cent orange Franklin stamp. The 30-c is printed in blue, the 50-c in lavender.

The dollar values of the set have already appeared—the $1 Wilson on August 29, the $2 Harding in September 29 and the $5 Coolidge on November 17. Of the $5 stamp, $98,000 worth were bought in Washington on the first day of issue. For first-day sales of these three high-

UNITED STATES POSTAGE
30 CENTS 30 50 CENTS 50
The profile of Theodore Roosevelt used on the 30-cent stamp is taken from a bust by James Earle Fraser, now in the United States Senate. Mr. Fraser is the sculptor who did the buffalo nickel.

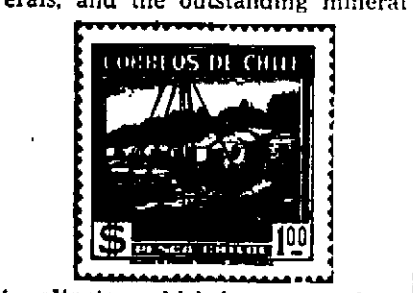

The William Howard Taft portrait is from a photograph by Harris and Ewing, now in the Library of the Philadelphia Bulletin. William A. Roach designed both stamps. The portrait was engraved by James R. Lowe on the 30-c and by Harry R. Rollins on the 50-c. The lettering was by Alton Payne and James T. Vail respectively.

On December 2, Mr. Farley's department issued the next to last pair of "Presidential"—the 24-c pair bearing the head of Benjamin Harrison, and the 25-c rich burgundy depicting the profile of William McKinley. The former portrait was from a bust by Adolph Weinman, now at the John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis; the latter from a Presidential medal supplied by the mint.

The whole set, unused, will cost you $12.08; face value.

Little Ads From Chile
For the past two years, Argentina has been advertising its cattle breeding, farming, wool raising, sugarcane, oil wells, vineyards and cotton on stamps. Neighboring Chile also reviewed the local industries in 1936 when it issued a 12-stamp set to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of Chile by Diego de Almagro. Subjects in this pictorial series included fish boats, sheep, mining, shipping, cattle and saltwater mining.

Now Chile has put out a regular postage set of four stamps along the same line. Again appears the saltwater mining subject, this time on a 20-cent dull blue stamp. The wealth in Chile is mainly in minerals, and the outstanding mineral is saltpeter, which happens to be a sodium nitrate in that country. Chile has the largest nitrate deposits in the world—enough to supply the world's increasing demands for a century.

An oil refinery appears on the new 50-c violet stamp, which, like the 20-cent, is typographed.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

Adam hurried me out of the house. Dr. Moore, his hair mussed and new lines in his face, stood in the door of the waiting room. "She's got a wonderful constitution," he said. "Wonderful. There's a chance—just a chance. . . . Her mother and father here?" "Yes, been here for hours, waiting. When she finally opened her eyes I called them. I think she recognized them, but she kept whispering, 'Barney.' There may be something she doesn't want them to know. The old lady went to pieces—had to give her a sedative, put her in one of the other beds. "Anne still conscious?" "Fittfully. She dozes, wakes, asks for Barney."

He turned, looked down the hall. "Here they come. I'll see if she's awake." He was gone, with light, noiseless steps. Barney and Charlie came in, ignoring me, fastening their gaze on Adam. They were hollow eyed, unshaven, but they had taken time to don day uniforms. They were in olive drab slacks, fresh khaki shirts and they carried their campaign hats.

"What's happened?" asked Barney evenly. Except for an unhealthy pallor he seemed to have recovered from his mysterious attack. "Anne is alive—she's been asking for you," Adam said gently. Dazed Eyes

I heard the faint whistle of Charlie's in-drawn breath. I saw Barney's sudden rigidity, the quiver of emotion on his face that for a moment broke up his iron control.

"Where is she?" he asked in a high, unnatural voice. He turned, was on his way.

Mrs. C. F. Buck Feted On 89th Birthday at Hortonville Dwelling

Hortonville—Mrs. C. F. Buck celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday at her home on Thursday. Guests at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Haller and two children, Mr. and Mrs. William Kannack, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Taviey, Hortonville. The Hortonville Women's Relief Corps of which Mrs. Buck is a member will celebrate her birthday at her home Thursday, Jan. 12.

Mrs. Lester Thern entertained the members of the Hortonville Royal Neighbor camp at her home Tuesday evening. The meeting was in the form of a Christmas party. Lunch was served and games were played.

Fred Buchman of Oak Park, Ill., spent the Christmas holidays at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Buchman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Buchman entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner at their home Monday evening. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steidl and daughter Evelyn and son Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Steidl and daughters Ethel and Angelina, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Schuldes, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kermis and daughter Patsy, Stephensville; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schuldes and sons Gene and Dick, Appleton. Athletic association.

Sister Ida Buck of Milwaukee, who spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Herman Buck, Hortonville, has been ill for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kluge, Hortonville, entertained at a dinner Christmas day. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kluge, Manawa; that's what it was. You see, there weren't any lights at the Carew's, and the doctor being gone all evening and all, and cars coming and going all the time—you can see the hospital from our quarters. So I just told Flower, 'Anne's alive,' and we came to see if I was right—and to see if we can do anything of course."

She smiled confidently. "You see, Gilly woke up when we came in, and it's so near morning of course he wouldn't be able to sleep any more, so Flower and I didn't bother to go to bed. For while Gilly's always very good with Nurse, he's always very full of spirits in the morning, and even if one could, I don't believe in suppressing a child."

I said, "Oh!" rather inadequately. Then, to my surprise, Adam took her off my hands. He drew her into a corner, spoke a few words unobtrusively and drifted away. I was just beginning to feel that he had withdrawn his confidence from me when he paused beside me. "Keep your eye on Annie," he said in a voice that was little more than a breath.

I must have shown that I was startled, for before I could frame a question he answered it. "Nothing is going to happen if I can prevent it, but I can't take any chances. If—if Anne knows anything there may be an attempt to silence her—the murderer may show a hand. . . ."

Stadler Offers Figures on Taxes

5 Pct. of 1937 Levy and 8 Pct. of 1938 Still To be Paid

Waupaca—L. J. Stadler, Waupaca county treasurer, has reported 5 per cent of the 1937 taxes still unpaid, and 8 per cent of those for 1938. After the December bills have been paid, including those accrued by the county board, the treasurer has found all funds exhausted. State aid which will amount to approximately $50,000 and county taxes, which will come in the first of the year, will take care of the January disbursements, he stated.

Although tax statements have not yet been received from City Treasurer Carl J. Nelson, he reported three property owners have already paid their 1938 taxes.

Daniel J. Lix, Lake Forest, Ill., construction engineer for the new federal building, will be in Waupaca Jan. 3 to supervise the building operations. Work was begun some weeks ago and forms are now awaiting the inspector before concrete can be poured.

County Allotted 11,943 Acres in Crop Program

Waupaca—Waupaca county's acreage allotment of soil depleting crops under the 1939 agricultural conservation program, has been set at 11,943 acres, according to an announcement just made by Harry O. Wells, chairman of the Wisconsin agricultural conservation committee.

Acreage allotments for every farm in the county are being prepared and it is expected that the farm allotments together with payment rates will be available for farm owners within the next few weeks.

General payments it is explained, will be made to all farmers in the county who plant within their allotted acreages of soil depleting crops during 1939. The general payment rate for Wisconsin and other north central states is $1.10 an acre. Since the rate is based upon normal productivity of each farm, it is expected that payment rates will vary to some extent from farm to farm.

Wisconsin's acreage allotment of soil depleting crops under the 1939 program has been set at 6,486,000 acres. The national allotment of soil depleting crops is set at 275,000,000 acres.

New York — (P) — Renewed strength in aircrafts and rails spurred the stock market on another forward jaunt today.

Leaders climbed fractions to more than two points and a few inactives were up as much as eight or so. A number of new highs for the year were posted. Closing prices were at or near the best of the day despite considerable profit-taking.

Aside from brightening business prospects, lightening of tax-selling, which has been a decidedly retarding factor during the past few weeks, was said to have had a great deal to do with inspiring further speculative purchases. Tax sales for regular delivery ended yesterday as "cash" transactions, necessary for income returns during the remainder of the year, were conspicuous throughout the session. These, though, were absorbed without strain. Reinvestment buying also helped to extend the run-up of Wednesday.

Visions of a 13,000-plane fighting fleet for the army and navy put additional fire in the aviation and other "war baby" stocks as Wall Street appeared confident the president would send congress a sizzling defense message.

Motivating the carriers was the continued belief favorable legislation for the long neglected railways was a virtual certainty. Encouraging, too, was the disclosure November, not operating income for the principal roads were up some 50 per cent over the 1937 month.

While there were occasional slow intervals, transfers were around 1,900,000 shares.

Rail bonds retained leadership in a rising bond market. Commodities were mixed. Wheat at Chicago was up  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a cent a bushel and corn was  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  advanced. In late transactions cotton was down 30 cents a bale to up 5 cents.

European securities markets were quiet and steady. Near mid-afternoon sterling was off  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a cent at \$4.63. The French franc was .001 of a cent lower at 2.63 francs.

High School Grid Title Tops Year's Athletic Records

Championship for Kaukauna Is Fourth in Seven Years

Kaukauna—The winning of the Northeastern conference football championship for the fourth time in seven years was Kaukauna's most noteworthy accomplishment in the athletic year now drawing to a close. Coach Paul E. Little's footballers swept undefeated through their conference season, with only a tie with Neenah against them. The Kaws took the measure of Menasha, Clintonville, New London, West De Pere and Shawano in loop play, and defeated St. Mary's of Menasha in a non-conference battle.

The Electric City Brewers, city football team, had another successful year, ending with two smashing wins over its most bitter rival, Little Chute.

In basketball the high schoolers broke even, and whipped Menasha to gain third place honors at the district tournament here in March. The Mellow Brews won the first half of the city basketball league, and tied for second half honors.

They then won the second half playoff and were undisputed city champions. Members of the team were Ed, George and Charley Bloch, Bud Kahuna and Edw. Wurdinger.

Good Track Record

The high school track team, with Bill Peterson and Lee Lambie showing the way, won several dual meets and defeated Chilton and Kimberly in a triangular match. The Kaws placed third in the conference meet at Neenah. Lee Lambie placed second in the 440 yard run at the state meet in Madison.

The Kaukauna Club softball team swept all honors during the summer months, winning both halves of the city league and defeating a team of all-stars in a post-season game under the lights. The Clubs also were victorious against strong out of town teams.

In baseball things started off well but petered out toward the end. The Mellow Brews, state champs in 1937, tied with Two Rivers for the first half of Northern league play, but lost the playoff. The nine then broke up during second half play and a patched up team, reinforced with Fox River Valley loop players, finished the league schedule. Manager Howard Bowers was replaced by Wally Kilgas, who piloted the valley leaguers in their first season.

Wins Golf Title
Sylvester Hopfensperger was crowned city golf champ, downing John Andrejcski in the final match, 6 and 5. Hopfensperger received the trophy at a victory dinner sponsored by the Kaukauna Lions club.

In bowling the Gertz Tavern team took Commercial league honors. Members were Ray Gertz, Amay Bayorgone, Nic Mertes, Duke Van Leshout, Jack Van Leshout, Ed McMorrow and Bill Baier. The Kaukauna Knights of Columbus were fraternal league champs.

The grade schools also renewed old athletic rivalries. Holy Cross took the measure of St. Mary's 27 to 0, on the gridiron, and Nicolet bested Park in their annual track and field competition.

In the fall Phil Zwick, Kaukauna's round-the-world featherweight, arrived home after a tour of fight-kauna fans saw him in action this month when he defeated Armando Cicilia at Green Bay. Phil now is in the market for other fights.

Movieland Its People and Products

Olivia de Havilland—the star—is at the right—and Ann Robinson—the stand-in—at the left. Ann, a native of Tennessee, has been with Olivia in this capacity for over two years, and has enjoyed it thoroughly, because the two young women are close personal friends. The picture was snapped while on location at the U. S. Naval Air Station at North Island, San Diego, California, where Warner Bros. were making "Wings of the Navy" in which Olivia is starred, with George Brent and John Payne.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Settin' Around (Paramount): For thirty years, Hollywood has been trying to decide whether its most publicized director, Cecil B. DeMille, is an ogre or a Good Samaritan. Talk to any two people who work on his sets and you hear contradictory versions, but one thing is certain, to wit, that everything done by DeMille will be done with magnificent showmanship.

Fidler: He's the first man credited with that now overworked line—"say anything you like about me, so long as you spell the name correctly."

Here are a couple of typical anecdotes. The other day, on the "Union Pacific" set, with two hundred unruly extras getting out of hand, he suddenly picked a young girl out of the mob and spent fifteen minutes giving her a tongue lashing on the subject of discipline that left her in tears. But—and here's his own justification—he reduced that unruly mob to a disciplined regiment. The girl was simply a tool, used by a master psychologist, to focus attention on his commands. Later in the day, he again singled her out, but this time for a dialogue line that meant a close-up and a $25 check.

For the same picture, he hired a once-great director, now down and out, to play a bit. The man stopped—but DeMille after wasting eighteen takes on him, patted him on the back, told him he had done a great job and sent him home with a paycheck and a glow. Then he called casting and hired a substitute. What do you think of a man like that?

On the "Union Pacific" set today, I watched Joel McCrea and Robert Preston stage a knock-down, drag-out fight in the aisle of a railroad coach. Seeing it on the screen, every wise guy in the audience will assure anyone willing to listen that it's faked—that all screen fights are fakes. And, to an extent he'll be right. Joel and Bob rehearsed that battle for more than an hour, timing all their punches and planning just how they would "roll" with them to avoid any chance of injury. But they came out of that scene with just about as many bruises as a man would harvest in the average street fight. Joel will have a shiner under his make-up tomorrow; Bob will be favoring a sprained hand. Any screen fighter will tell you that movie battles, past a certain point, are painfully real.

Ever since "Midnight" went into production, a deadly feud has been building between John Barrymore and Claudette Colbert's poodle, "Smookey." Smookey has a nasty habit of sneaking noiselessly to a position just back of the great Barrymore and then suddenly letting out a series of ferocious yelps. And the Barrymore nerves can't take it—he threatening doggycide. Today, after a bout with Smookey, he was muttering on the sidelines, and Don Ameche framed him. First, he had the sound men set up a microphone near John, then he had an outsider solicit the Barrymore for a big contribution to the Tailwaggers' Fund for the protection of poodles. Barrymore talked for ten minutes

Several Accidents in County During Holidays

Waupaca—The sheriff's department has reported several accidents over the holidays due to slippery roads and poor visibility. Two of the accidents occurred at intersections which have been the scene of collisions for the last several years—the Symco four corners where County Trunk X and Highway 145 join north of the railroad tracks. At Symco cars owned and driven by Clayton Jones, Waupaca, and C. H. Jensen, Madison, collided, causing much damage to both cars and injuries to all of the occupants of the Jensen car, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. William Tate of Bear Creek.

The John Peterson car of Amherst, driven by his daughter Anne of River Forest, Ill., was crowded without repeating himself once. It's probably the first Technicolor recording in history!

CHATTER ABOUT PARAMOUNT IDOLS: Madeline Carroll, the perfect "English" beauty, is really Latin; her mother's French and her father's Spanish. If Fred MacMurray's face were pushed down from his forehead and up from his chin, he'd look like Lionel Stander. Wonder if a few professional set-backs would make Shirley Ross—who's had lots of luck—more understanding person? I like Bob Hope's biography of a star: "Orbit, bit, and orbit."

One of the bit players in "Hotel Imperial" is Alexander Novinsky, an authentic Russian nobleman and an ex-admiral of the Imperial fleet. As a young lieutenant, he fought throughout the Russo-Japanese war without getting a scratch. In the World war, he went through seven major battles—again without an injury. He fought through the Revolution—and not a bruise to show for it. But today, he's swathed in heavy bandages. Shooting a fake battle scene for this picture they blew up a barracks building. One of the beams hit Novinsky on the head and he was out, cold, for nearly an hour.

Watched a scene for "Cafe Society." Starting from a dock at one end of the big Paramount tank, Fred MacMurray had to gun a speedboat up to 35 miles an hour before reaching the other end and—here's where the trick comes in—stop it short. In the second take, the controls jammed and the hurtling shell left the tank as though it had wings and skidded clear across the 25-foot runway atop the pool. "Who didn't stop it—what were you thinking about?" roared Director Edward Griffith. Fred grinned sheepishly. "I was trying to decide what to say to De Mille when I whizzed through his bungalow," he countered.
